
WRIGHT BROS. GIVEN HIGH TRIBUTE

Plane Engineers Laud Three Principles of Their First Craft

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Wilbur and Orville Wright received today the highest tribute of aeronautical engineers—the announcement that at least three elements of their first airplane still are the best known to science.

Ford L. Prescott, army air corps research engineer at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, told a national conference of aviation engineers that the gear system and fuel injection method used on their plane 31 years ago at Kitty Hawk, N. C., are being reverted to in designing tomorrow's aircraft.

Re-adopt Landing Gear
Other engineers said that within the last year designers have re-adopted the three-wheel landing gear which the Wright brothers used on their first plane.

In designing high power engines, Prescott said, the problem of proper gearing of engine and propeller has become of prime importance. "It is disconcerting to observe that the first successful man-carrying airplane embodied a type of reduction gear," he added, "since gears were abandoned during the World war."

Advise Spare Flap
The Wright airplane, the engineer said, incorporated a system of fuel injection instead of carburetion, a feature which is, at the present time, under intensive development by the aeronautical world.

Harlan D. Fowler of Baltimore said planes should carry a spare wing, which he defined as "flaps" or extensions of the trailing edges of the wings, for use in emergencies. Such flaps, he said, increase the rate of climb 10 to 15 per cent, shorten takeoff distance, increase the gliding distance even when ice forms on the wings, and decrease the landing speed.

She Likes Alaska Where They Fish From the Windows

MONROVIA, (AP)—Mrs. Nellie Neal Lawings, 63, wants to get back to Alaska for several reasons, she said, among them:

"You people here live a week of your life every day."
"My kitchen is built over Lake Kenai. Fish lines out of the window are attached to a bell over the range. When the bell rings, I just go and pull in an eight or nine-pound trout."
"We always have two or three trained bear cubs around. They go down to the lake, catch salmon and bring them to the house for us."

Stock Reducing Sale at Trott's

Trott Jewelry at Fifth and Sycamore streets announced a stock reducing sale today. H. R. Trott said that in some lines it will be necessary to close them out entirely due to lack of space. "To do this quickly we are marking these goods at prices so low that they will be outstanding as values," Trott said. "The stock is made up of the latest styles in nationally advertised merchandise."

Anaheim Actress Files Damage Suit

Mari Wilson, Anaheim girl who won a movie career, entered on a new fight for riches today. She filed suit in Los Angeles superior court for $50,000 damages from Morgan Hughes, driver of a car which collided with Miss Wilson's automobile a week ago.

L. A. to Vote on Sunday Dancing

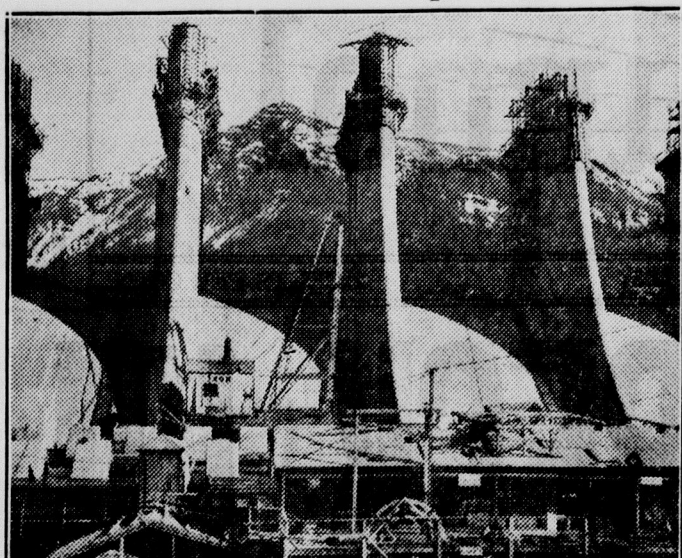

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Los Angeles will vote April 6 on whether dancing in public places on Sunday will be permitted. The city council has voted to put such an initiative proposition on the ballot.

KEEP PROMISE
ADELAIDE, Australia. (AP)—Mrs. J. B. Curry, 90, has a new black dress. Back in 1897 Mrs. Curry was the first customer in a newly opened department store. The management presented her with an outfit of clothing and told her if she came back when she was 90 they would give her another gown. They kept their promise.

Student Oils Machine, Spoils Novel Experiment

CHICAGO (AP)—A conscientious student squirted oil into the squeaking motors at a University of Illinois laboratory here. Flustered professors drew his attention to a "no oiling" sign, then announced an experiment to determine how long the machines could run without lubrication was prematurely ended. Each had made 3,500,000 revolutions before the oiling.

Piers Near Completion

Piers are nearing completion at the Bonneville dam at Bonneville, Ore., and their strength will be tested soon in holding back the flow of the Columbia river. When pouring of concrete is finished, huge gates will be installed between the piers. Completion of the project is scheduled for next year. (Associated Press Photo)

Rooster Eats 751 Grains of Corn to Win Championship

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—In the best barnyard circles they're hailing today a stocky, nameless Rhode Island Red rooster, corn eating champion in these parts.

Before a cheering crowd of junior livestock show banquets the little fellow pecked grains of corn with gusto that smacked the judges.

Seven hundred and fifty-one grains was his impressive total, a feat which put his competitors off the table.

Judges Keep Tally
Steadily pecking away, stopping only for an occasional stretch and a "how'm I doin'?" gawk at the crowd, the spry cockerel owned by Bill Eschbach of Tulsa ate on and on. Ten grains at a time he was allowed while the judges kept tally with paper and pencil.

A rooster of dubious ancestry, labeled "mixed" and claimed by no owner, gave up the struggle at 434 grains. Charles Murphy's Buff Orpington flapped his wings and signified "enough" at 447. Of better mettle was Richard Smith's Rhode Island Red, twice as big as the winner. He swallowed 479 grains and called it a meal. That made him the runner-up.

On and on ate Eschbach's entry. Of different build than the rest, he seemed to have plenty of room. He grew noticeably bigger.

Eats 751 Grains
With 692 grains in the champ's craw, corn ran out for the second time. The judges lifted a glossy red wing and declared "the winner!" Somebody brought more corn and the champion kept right on to the official total of 751 grains.

"Nope, that's enough, he might get sick if he ate more," opined Eschbach.

The titbit still had hunger. He pecked searchingly at outstretched hands as he was lugged out.

Japan Premier Moves Into 'Murder-Proof' House

TOKYO, (AP)—Premier Senjuro Hayashi moved yesterday into his new specially built official residence, described by its architects as "assassination proof."

The $28,000 "house of secrets" is honeycombed with subterranean passages, secret exits, mysterious doors and disappearing floors, and has a number of bomb-proof rooms with floors and walls impervious to bullets.

Not even his wife will know in what part of the house he sleeps, Hayashi declared.

The premier took up his residence in the house alone, forbidding his family to join him until the present session of parliament ends and lessens the fear of an assassination attempt growing out of Japan's tense political situation.

FATHER SLAYS SON AND SELF

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Police sought an explanation today for the sudden derangement of Harry Weist, 55, who Chief of Police LaFortune reported shot to death his 4-year-old son and then killed himself.

The child, Harry Jr., was Weist's by a former marriage. Weist is survived by his widow and two other children.

Invents Lethal Chamber for Cats

POCATELLO, Ida. (AP)—Dog-catcher S. M. Cook, who won a measure of renown with his proposal to footprint all dogs, announced today the invention of a lethal gas chamber for cats—"guaranteed to take all nine lives at once."

Said he: "Taxpayers have been complaining about noisy cats these spring evenings. I rigged up a cardboard packing box and ran a hose from the exhaust on my truck to the box. In two minutes it's good-by cat."

GOLD SHIPPING COST HEAVY

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Government monetary experts have estimated foreigners have paid $22,000,000 for hauling gold across the Atlantic in the last three years. The gold surge to this country, springing primarily from economic and political unrest abroad, has totaled $4,000,000,000 since the dollar was revalued early in 1934.

The inflow, pushing this nation's holdings to a peak of $11,300,000,000, has brought far-reaching domestic and international monetary problems.

Suicide of Men In Tokyo Double Those of Women

TOKYO, (AP)—Men outnumbered women almost two to one in the city's 2651 suicides last year, according to official figures just made public. The number was an increase of 266 over 1935.

Some 700 attempted suicides for 1936 were also reported. Principal causes for the suicides as tabulated by officials were: 915, sickness; 338, poverty; 334,

WOMAN TURNS BACK TIME YOUNGEST U.S. JUDGE SEATED

Reverts Toward Foetalhood

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Dr. Beverly R. Tucker of Richmond described in the Virginia medical monthly today the "progressive regression" of a 61-year-old woman "at the rate of a year or so every few months" to a state similar to foetalhood.

The gradual reversion of the mental age of the patient to childhood and then babyhood occurred, Dr. Tucker said, in the case of a woman of a family of "gentle-folk with average health in body and mind."

She was admitted to his sanatorium in April, 1932, at the age of 61, shortly after the death of her husband.

Dr. Tucker wrote: "Despite our efforts to the contrary, in a few months she was three or four years of age. Her enunciation became less distinct, she was careless with her spoon. Spilling food, and had to be assisted with her feeding. . . . She had ceased to read, and would have crawled around on the floor had the nurse so permitted."

Dr. Tucker said the woman left the sanatorium at "about four months of age" after being under treatment for six months.

"However, we kept in touch with her, and she continued to regress until she assumed the foetal position," he said, "breathing gently being her only movement." At this time he wrote, she was sent to a state hospital, and died there a short while later.

U. S. EXPENDS 5 BILLION

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Government expenditures this fiscal year have crossed the $5,000,000,000 mark.

The daily treasury statement showed spending between last July 1 and March 9 aggregated $5,008,932,303, or $132,944,550 over the same period last year.

The higher outlays were traceable in part to social security and national defense expenditures.

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—The nation's youngest federal judge, Alfred P. Murrah, 33, takes his oath of office today—and he said he'll be ready to quit when he is 70.

"I'll have 37 years on the bench," he said, "and by that time I'll be ready to retire."

He was confirmed recently to a roving assignment as the state's fourth federal district judge. Ten years out of law school, Murrah first established himself as a lawyer in oil-booming Seminole, Okla., and later here before he was nominated to the $10,000-a-year federal judgeship by President Roosevelt.

Parts of Picket Law Held Invalid

OAKLAND, (AP)—Sections of the city of Berkeley anti-picketing ordinance relating to peaceful picketing are unconstitutional, Superior Judge E. J. Tyrrell held here yesterday in deciding in favor of three men arrested six months ago and charged with picketing the F. W. Woolworth company plant in Berkeley.

Quality Movement In Furniture Sweeps On, Traditional Styles In Greatest Demand

The demand for period designs in furniture was definitely reflected in the recent Eastern and West Coast markets. Manufacturers of fine furniture throughout the country have concentrated on reproducing Eighteenth Century and Victorian masterpieces.

Georgian sofas covered with beautiful damasks are finding favor with the home maker. French designs showing Louis XVI and Louis XV influence in line are graceful and comfortable.

Colorful new fabrics are used on Eighteenth Century upholstered pieces. Eggshell brocades, gay chintzes, fine brocatelles, new mohair weaves, soft velvets and some leather are being used.

Occasional pieces, end tables, commodes, lamp tables and coffee tables of English and French design are made of finely selected woods. Convenience in sizes are an important feature of these new tables.

Factories recognized as outstanding for their quality, such as Robert W. Irwin, Landstrom Furniture Corporation, Karpen, Valentine Seaver and many others have concentrated on Louis XV, Louis XVI, Sheraton, Chippendale and Hepplewhite patterns.

Federal American designs in bedroom and dining room furniture vie with French Provincial and Early American maple for favor.

Queen Anne wing chairs, channell back chairs and occasional chairs are all demanded in authentic period designs. Gone with the depression are the clumsy so-called club chairs of the late 20's.

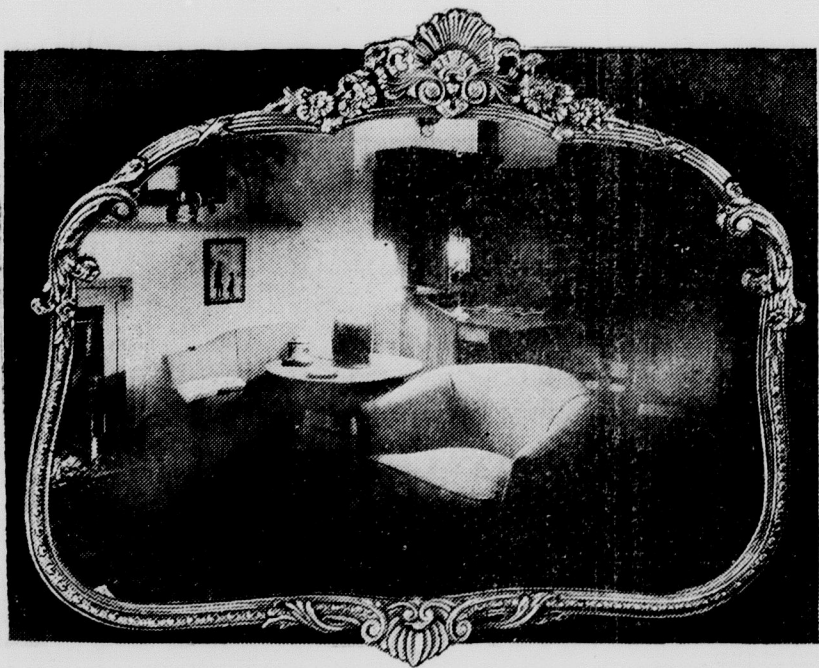

New textures in broadloom floor coverings are being shown. New colors for floors have been introduced. A few years ago one was limited to five or six colors and a profusion of patterned rugs. Now you may select from as many as 20 different plain colors.

Draperies for the 18th century room are of course formal—lovely linens, gay chintzes and damasks are used most frequently.

Only GOOD modern designs are being sold!

Modern furniture has passed through a stage of struggling for public acceptance. The consumer has rejected the over-designed, over-emphasized modern styles, but has shown good acceptance of the better styled modern with restraint in design.

PICKFAIR TO BE SOLD TO ORIENTAL?

Japanese Negotiates to Buy Movie Home for University

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Pickfair, the magnificent home that used to be a "house of dreams" for Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, may become the basic unit in a university of Oriental culture, but negotiations have not even begun, an official of the Pickfair business organization said today.

"Pickfair is not yet on the market," he said, "but there have been scores of offers for it. This is only one of them."

It has been reported that Chobun Y. Okamoto, wealthy Japanese manufacturer and writer, had entered negotiations for the purchase of Pickfair. The price was reported to be $375,000, and decision would be made when Mary Pickford returns from London, it was said.

Okamoto was quoted to the effect that he hoped to use the great establishment as a cornerstone for a Japanese-American cultural center in Southern California.

"I am tremendously interested in better relations between America and Japan and giving this country a better conception of true Japanese culture—the 'inner Japan,'" Okamoto was quoted as telling the Los Angeles Examiner. "The university would not compete or interfere with any existing American institution. The subjects of study would be art, philosophy and religion."

Mary Pickford has gone to England.

When she announced her engagement to Charles "Buddy" Rogers, handsome actor and musician, she said they would build a new home, and would not occupy Pickfair. She said she probably would sell Pickfair.

"Ever since that announcement," a member of her organization said today, "there have been many offers for the place. But it isn't on the market yet."

Mr. Okamoto and his wife have been house-guests of Miss Pickford's, and the project was discussed informally, but no more.

Peace Officers Name Trustees

Officer W. H. Heard of the Santa Ana police department and Jailer Theo Lacy, Jr., today were trustees of the Orange County Peace Officers' association. S. B. Kaufman, former district attorney, was attorney for the group.

Heard and Lacy were elected Wednesday night at the association's monthly meeting in the Tustin K. P. hall, following a dinner served by the Pythian Sisters. Kaufman was appointed by President D. S. McMillan.

Members held their annual "beef night" discussion on policies and activities of the association. Next meeting, a stag affair, will be held in April. Final plans were laid for Saturday night's association benefit dance in the Valencia ballroom.

A total of 5859 persons was reported for violation of federal narcotic laws last year, of whom 2959 were convicted.

Lathrop Junior High News

Junior Literary club members enjoyed a short program arranged by Dick Vance and his program committee at the last meeting. James Wylie gave a piano solo and Winifred Pearce sang "Champagne Waltz," accompanied by Leila Slaback at the piano. Initiation book reviews by Mararet Power, Kenneth Lindall, Eleanor Lawrence, Andrzej Pappas and Betty Shidler, were as follows: Calico and Crinoline, Lion, Bambi, Up Creek and Down Creek, The White Queen. Discussion of an alumnae meeting was followed by the announcement of Homer Chaney, Jr., that he would be taking a leave of absence from the club for the remainder of the semester. Homer will accompany his parents on a lecture tour which includes Texas, Wisconsin, Connecticut, North Carolina and Vermont in the itinerary.

The box of candy for selling the most operetta tickets was awarded by Miss Cornell to Richard Watson of Lathrop.

Miss Nickolson's vocations class has made a most interesting study of farming recently. Outlines and illustrations of farmers cultivating their lands have been used as a basis for this work. The class has been divided into three groups with Captains Bruce Carnahan, Clem Knox and Jack Morgan leading the groups.

Fruits has been the study of Mrs. Sinke's girls' foods classes during the past three weeks. The preparation in various ways of the many fruits available to a Californian's diet was studied and planned.

Intramural track meetings at Lathrop have had large turnouts this year. In the pole vault the midgits placed with Farren taking first place, Mair second, and Carr third at 7 ft. 9 in., 7 ft. 6 in., and 7 ft. 6 in.

and Worthen placed at 6 ft. 6 in. Juniors made a record for themselves in the broad jumps with Rochms taking first place at 15 ft. 9 in., Sorenson second at 14 ft. 11 in., Warren Danielson third at 14 ft. 4 in., Okamoto fourth at 13 ft. 6 in., and Vance fifth at 12 ft. 9 in. Intermediates in the ball put reported Bulley in first place at 49 ft., Jiles second at 40 ft. 5 in., Dart third at 40 ft. 1 in., Yoder fourth at 39 ft. 2 in., and Bishop Patterson fifth at 37 ft. 11 in.

In the Lathrop branch library this week there is a series of posters on display which has been of great interest to persons of the library. Contributed by Mr. Kellogg, formerly principal of the Willard Junior high, the posters show a great many scenes from the Olympics. Most of the pictures have captions in German with an English translation.

Lathrop students are interested in W. C. T. U. contest for oratory and essays. Seventh and eighth grades will try for silver, gold and pearl medals in oratory, while ninth graders will complete in the writing of short essays.

Eighth graders are looking forward eagerly to March 19, for on that date they will have a party which includes all members of the grade. With a competent faculty committee and a student committee working on arrangements, the party should be a great success.

A model airplane meeting will be held on March 12, during Lathrop's home room period. Students may enter only those models that they have made themselves. Norman Lee, Bob Isenor and Bobby Jacobs have had charge of plans for the meeting.

The Boys' Recreational Arts club under Mr. McQuarrie's sponsorship is interested in making wind tunnels, periscopes, model airplanes, barometers, knives, welding and other things of use and interest to the members.

Miss Biggin's Scrap Book club is composed of girls from her vocations class. A part of the class period is devoted to organizing materials, ideas, and exchanging pictures and information for the various books that are being planned. All of the girls will make at least one book, and some plan several. The club enrollment numbers 25. An exhibit will be arranged for some future time by members of the club.

Girls who have enrolled in the wood shop with Mr. Orr as its sponsor, report lots of activity. They are proving very adept at handling the plans for door stops made as miniature dogs, and at making book ends, which is their second project.

The Lathrop Tennis club, sponsored by Mr. Archer, is making fine progress, with matches scheduled with Willard Junior high last of April. Inter school matches will be held in May and June. Boys who are members of the Tennis club are Lloyd Schultz, Donald Pritchard, Kenneth Crumley, Don Yoder, Robert Wahlberg, Earl Cleary, Douglas May, Clifford Whitford and Jack Granados.

Reich Purchases Argentine Wheat

BERLIN. (AP)—The German grain office confirmed reports that the Reich had been making purchases of Argentine wheat.

The spokesman for the purchasing bureau, however, declined to disclose the amount of the purchases "on the principle we never throw light on the government's grain deals."

(The German government was reported in Chicago to have bought 2,000,000 bushels of Argentine wheat Tuesday.)

"For the same reason," the spokesman added, "I am unable to say whether the purchases will be continued."

All other official and unofficial quarters declared they were in no position to comment on the reports.

FIGHT RAGES OVER 'RED' TEACHING

Congressmen Seek to Compromise Battle in Washington

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A group of senators and representatives is seeking a compromise on whether school teachers in the national capital may tell their pupils about Communism.

They must decide whether to: 1. Repeal or retain a "red rider," attached to a District of Columbia appropriation bill, a couple of years ago, banning teaching or advocating Communism in Washington public schools. 2. Accept a "pink rider" approved by the house, which would let teachers give their classes the facts of Communism without advocating it.

The argument has been bitter here ever since the "red rider" went into effect. Civic clubs, school societies, and churches have denounced or defended it.

Some congressmen wanted to repeal the rider, contending it was an insult not only to teachers here but also to those of the nation. Others wanted to retain it, contending repeal would be equivalent to a congressional invitation to teach Communism.

The senate voted unanimously for repeal. The house, however, voted to continue the ban on advocating Communism but agreed to permit instruction about it.

Santa Ana club No. 11 will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Franklin school building at 1512 W. Fourth street. Grant Henderson, president, will be in charge. The public is invited.

Santa Ana club No. 7 is meeting tonight in the Orange Avenue Christian church bungalow at Orange avenue and McFadden street. Peter Benheim, president, will preside. The membership is urged to attend.

The membership of Santa Ana club No. 2 will attend the Santa Ana club No. 10 meeting in the Townsend theater building, 218 East Fourth street, at 7:30 tonight. The Rev. T. W. Ringland, United Brethren pastor of Whitaker street, will be the speaker. While the speaker was the pastor of the Santa Ana United Brethren church, club No. 2 held its meeting in the church. Later he spoke all over the county before Townsend clubs and in Oct. 1935, he and the writer were delegates to the Chicago convention from club No. 2.

Mrs. Anna M. Habenning, who is nearly 80 years old, will bake biscuits for the Townsend Bake and Food sale to be held all day tomorrow at the Townsend theater building, 218 East Fourth street. Mrs. Habenning's advanced age does not deter her Townsend activities. It will be remembered that she baked for the last chicken dinner held in the Ebell club building nearly three years ago when more than 650 Townsends and others attended. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Culbertson, 310 West Second street, members of Santa Ana club No. 4, have put their kitchen baking facilities at the disposal of Mrs. Habenning all day Saturday. Mrs. Habenning has been a subscriber to The Journal nearly five months because of this column.

Mrs. Wm. Kendall of the Corona Del Mar Townsend club, who has been appointed chairman of the Orange County Townsend bazaar to be held in mid-summer in Santa Ana Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street, writes asking that the following communication be placed in this column: "As chairman on bazaar arrangements and promotion, I ask that each Townsend club in the county appoint a finance committee with some one as chairman—then form a workers circle or sewing circle—whatever you wish to call it. (In the Corona club, we call ours 'The Townsend Sew Circle'). Then arrange to meet at least once a week to work during the afternoon on whatever they desire that will sell at the bazaar.

"At the bazaar, each club will have its own booth, and if one or two clubs care to join together for a food sale the same day, that will be fine too.

"The object of the bazaar is to raise more money for the congressional board treasury so they may carry on this great work. If we all put our shoulders to the wheel we will go places. Our club, while small, is 100 per cent Townsend and our ladies are working hard. They already have many articles made."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Compton of La Habra were in Santa Ana yesterday on business. They report the La Habra club is having met last Monday evening in an interesting meeting. Next Monday night in the Masonic hall building at 6:30 o'clock the club will have a pot-luck supper. A

GUILT ADMITTED BY RAT NO. 1

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—Merle Vandenburg, known to federal agents as "Public Rat No. 1," unexpectedly pleaded guilty with two accomplices to the last of a long series of crimes—robbery of the Katonah bank of $17,600 Feb. 25.

His red hair still streaked with the black dye that was his disguise, Vandenburg was remanded for sentence with Anthony and George Rera, his accomplices.

Vandenburg and Anthony Rera face prison terms of 70 years each as a maximum. George Rera, cousin of Anthony and a Bronx garage man without previous record, can be sentenced to from 15 to 30 years. No date was set for sentencing by Justice Gerald Nolan.

VOTE MORE PAY ON U.S. SHIPS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The maritime commission has announced substantial pay increases for 1334 officers and men aboard the 36 vessels operated on five government-owned steamship lines.

The increase provides a flat $10 monthly advance for unlicensed personnel in both deck and engine departments.

Masters and deck officers receive raises ranging from $10.50 to $80 a month, engine officers increases from $10.50 to $65 a month and workers in the steward's department from $10 to $15 a month. A system of overtime rates also was authorized.

VISION FLYING MAIL CARS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Postoffice department officials envisioned today a time when "flying mail cars" would span the continent with letters mailed at ordinary postage rates.

The department is not yet ready to reduce air mail rates, one high ranking official said, but may be able to do so "within a few years."

Enormous planes capable of carrying considerable more mail than is being carried now will be necessary, he said. Clerks would sort and sack letters while in flight.

Thumbs Down On Underground School

POMONA. (AP)—The board of education has turned thumbs down on a proposal to build a school underground.

The idea was advanced by Prof. Peter C. Spencer of the Claremont colleges. He contended such a school would be free of noises and dirty air, would reduce earthquake and fire hazards, and would provide more playground space.

The board thought otherwise at its session last night.

This Prisoner Wasn't Bluffing

IRONTON, O. (AP)—A woman jailed overnight for intoxication told Judge O. H. Henninger she would rather be spanked than returned to a cell.

"It's your choice—spanking or jail," said the magistrate.

Waits 50 Years To Return Shaving Mug to Customer

MEDINA, O. (AP)—E. E. Horn, 73, of Cleveland, needed a shave. Henry Schuler, 72, a barber, began to lather Horn's face.

"Well, I'm a son-of-a-gun," said Schuler, stopping suddenly. He walked to a shelf, brought back a shaving mug with Horn's name on it.

"I've been waiting 50 years for you to come after this," he said.

'I WAS A LIAR WHEN YOUNG' So Writes President's Wife

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt recalls in her autobiography that she was a naughty little girl who told fibs.

She also tells how, as a very young girl, she insisted on sampling a glass of beer, and never has cared for it since.

Writing in a monthly magazine out this week, the President's wife says her childhood "habit of lying" made her a great trial to her mother.

One of her earlier recollections is of attending a convent in France, where she was treated with aloofness by the other little girls.

About That Penny
"One of the girls swallowed a penny," she recalls. "The excitement was great; every attention was given her, she was the center of everybody's interest. I longed to be in her place. One day I went to one of the sisters and told her that I had swallowed a penny."

"I think it must have been evident that my story was not true, but I could not be shaken, so they sent for my mother and told her that they did not believe me. She took me away in disgrace. Understanding as I do now my mother's character, I realize how terrible it must have seemed to her to have a child who would lie. . . .

"She did not understand that a

RADIO INQUIRY IS DEMANDED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Representative Connery (D., Mass.) has asked the house rules committee to approve an investigation of radio facilities.

He asserted three networks operating with total power of 2,360,000 watts and blanketing the country with chain programs were monopolizing the air.

FARMERS' DEBTS ARE CUT DOWN

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Farm debt adjustments have cut nearly $3,000,000 off the total of California defaulted farm loans in the last 2½ years.

Rollin B. Moore, state farm debt adjustment supervisor, announced that a total of $8,791,227 debt of farmers in distress was cut to $5,847,421 by adjustment. The reduction was $2,943,806.

These adjustments covered 2254 cases considered, 1275 adjusted by voluntary county committees. Adjustment expense averaged $43.13 per case. Moore said the adjustments enabled the counties to collect $71,441 in taxes.

Actresses Left Out of Will

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The late Sarah Maria Talmadge disinherited her nearest relatives, Norma, Constance and Natalie Talmadge of motion picture fame, in her will on probate file here today.

"I make no provision," the will said, "for my nearest relatives, Constance, Natalie and Norma Talmadge, grandchildren of my first cousin, John Talmadge, because I have not seen or had anything to do with them for a great many years."

Most of her estate, the value of which was not disclosed, was left to charity.

MISSING SHIP GIVEN UP

LONDON. (AP)—Hope was abandoned today for the 462-ton steamer Stancress, which sailed on her maiden voyage Feb. 28. The vessel and crew of nine disappeared in the English channel.

CHARGE SPAIN INVADED BY ITALIANS

MADRID. (AP)—Gen. Jose Miaja, commander of Madrid's defense forces, said yesterday "an undeclared international war has begun in Spain" in which 30,000 Italian soldiers are participating.

"Spain has been invaded by a foreign army!" The government generalissimo declared.

The government, in a communique, asserted evidence has been "uncovered to show that four full divisions (of Italian troops) are taking part in the fighting."

The communique named "General Mangini" as the commander of Italian forces in Spain.

CITRUS GOES BY AIR EXPRESS

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—California fruits are traveling by air express into the interior of Columbia, the commerce department reported.

Bogota received 5513 pounds of American fruits in the last half of December.

John J. Judge, district manager of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, said grapes, apples and pears are carried by water under refrigeration to seaport storage terminals, then air expressed to interior cities such as Medellin, Bucaramanga, Beira and Armenia, besides Bogota.

QUINTS WILL MAKE MOVIE IN JUNE

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—At the robust age of 3 years, the Dionne quintuplets are due to star in their third motion picture this June.

A story to frame the gurgling grace of the five little sisters was being prepared at Twentieth Century-Fox Studio here today.

Yvonne, Annette, Emilie, Cecile and Marie were all of 18 months old when they demonstrated they were comedienne in "The Country Doctor." Last May 28, on their second birthday, they received $250,000 as down payment on a new three-picture contract, running to the end of 1938.

"Reunion," in which they frolicked out of doors, was the first production under this agreement. Like no other stars in movie history, the quintuplets, unable to come to Hollywood, have had Hollywood come to them.

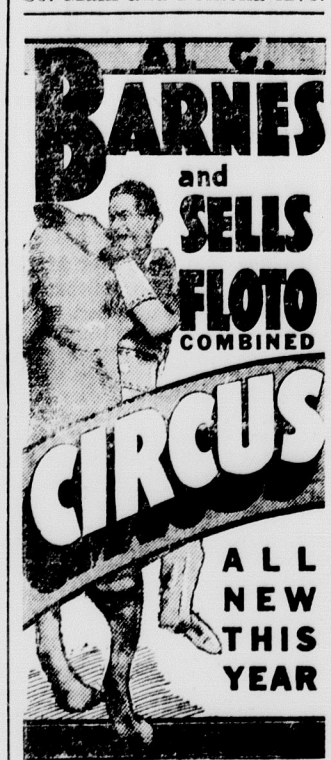

Jean Hersholt, studio sources said, is slated to continue in his familiar role of the quintuplets' doctor.

SENATE WILL STUDY RIGHT TO PARDON

Will Study Legality Before Acting in Mooney Case

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Before the senate acts on the assembly resolution intended to constitute an immediate and unconditional pardon for Tom Mooney, it will deliberate on the validity of the legislature's right to pardon, it indicated today.

Senator Walter McGovern, San Francisco, put through a motion to consider the case of the San Francisco Preparedness day bomb defendant next Tuesday.

McGovern urged Deputy Attorney General Cleary and George T. Davis, attorney for Mooney, be summoned to present statements of facts and the legal aspects of the case. Senator Swing agreed, saying "If the legislature can pardon, we should hear both sides."

Urges Decision

Senator James B. Holohan, warden of San Quentin prison during many of the years of Mooney's confinement there, said the issue should be settled immediately.

The senate voted to set the resolution for noon Tuesday but against summoning witnesses for hearing legal authority in committee of the whole.

Requests were made to the senate finance committee to increase the governor's $446,000,000 budget for the coming biennium by $5,669,000.

Governor Merriam's budget included $720,146 for construction and improvements at the Veterans' home and Col. Nelson M. Holderman, commandant at the home, put before the committee an application that this amount be upped $1,954,000.

National Guards

Warden Clarence Lark of Folsom prison, asked for an additional $175,000 above the $42,300 in the budget for new construction at the prison.

Adjutant General Harry Morehead of the California National Guard, asked for an addition of $90,100 to the $667,512 in the budget for support of the national guard and an increase of $42,000 to the $25,000 in the budget for construction.

MUSING ON LIQUOR LAW CHANGES

(Placencia Courier)

Complaint was made to the Courier this week that state liquor laws were being violated in Placencia and the newspaper should "do something about it."

An examination of the books of Judge S. C. Harmony of Placencia city court shows things to be running along on even keel, the number of arrests for the years 1935 and 1936 being approximately the same. For January and February of 1937 the average is up a trifle, but figures vary from from month to month. It is true one liquor merchant was fined for selling beer to minors, but was let off with a light fine, when he pleaded guilty.

Placencia is little different from a hundred other towns and cities in California, or across the nation, and just why the newspaper should be expected to "do something" causes an editor to muse on the drift of public opinion. Present liquor laws do not seem to suit a large majority of people but few can present a plan that will be workable, and find approval of any appreciable number of voters. The law as constituted at present was adopted by direct vote of the people and can be altered or changed when a sufficient number of voters go to the polls.

The trend of public opinion does not show any appreciable shift toward a return to dry days. Many are beginning to feel that tightening up on the number of liquor licenses, more strict regulation of business hours and drastic punishment for anyone who drives a car and drinks would be desirable improvements over the present time.

But until public resentment against liquor use and selling become more apparent than is disclosed at the present time, the desire on the part of one newspaper, or a dozen, to "do something about it" will not have great success. It is a problem destined to be with us for some years to come, and one which will require much thought and hard work before being solved.

THE MECHANICAL ELEMENT

(Westminster Gazette)

The human element, it is said, accounts for more than 90 per cent of all accidents on the highways. Only 10 per cent of all wrecks are attributed to mechanical failures.

We would hesitate to dispute the findings of statisticians, and yet we are firmly convinced that neglect of mechanical adjustments accounts for a larger proportion of highway crashes than the students of the problem admit.

It is never easy to determine the cause of an accident. Both sides have different stories to tell. "He failed to come to a full stop at an arterial highway. He swerved to my side of the road. He did not stop his car in time because he was traveling too fast." It must be realized, furthermore, that the driver who is badly injured or shaken up in an automobile accident cannot give a clear and coherent account of what happened.

So obviously many of these accidents attributed only to the human failure may be due in part to

EXPLORER HAS REDFERN CLEW

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana. (AP)—J. G. Le Van, American explorer who emerged from the hinterland jungles after his porters had deserted him on a scientific expedition, said today he had a clew to where Paul Redfern crashed.

Redfern, United States aviator, disappeared in August, 1927, on a projected non-stop flight from Brunswick, Ga., to Brazil. Several rescue missions have tried in vain to find him.

Le Van, who ended a month's struggle to find his way out of the desolate grassy savannas, said he met a Brazilian who told him he was at a mining camp on a tributary of the Amazon river at the time Redfern was lost, and saw a plane.

Le Van said the Brazilian told him the plane was spluttering and circled the camp three times as if seeking a landing place, and was certain the plane could not have gone much farther.

SEEKS PROBATE

In order to settle ownership of a $250,000 one-sixth interest in real estate here, Public Administrator Earl R. Abbey yesterday asked the superior court to admit to probate a will covering an Iowa estate. The will was that of William S. Pirie, who died July 2, 1936, in Stanwood, Ia.

mechanical failure as well. If he didn't come to a full stop at the through streets it may have been because his brakes were poor. If he swerved beyond his own side of the road he may have been blinded by lights which were out of adjustment. If his judgment proved to be wrong when he tried to pass a truck on the highway, the sluggish motor that needed a tune-up job may have contributed something to the accident.

Hence we feel that emphasis upon the human element alone is faulty. It may lead some persons to believe that mechanical details are of no consequence, and every experienced driver knows that he is more apt to fall in handling his car when it is out of adjustment than when it is in perfect running order.

Now that safety is becoming an issue of such vital public interest, we urge our readers to pay more heed to the condition of the car they drive. Be sure to have a good set of tires that grip the road. Be sure that your brakes operate evenly and effectively. Be sure your headlights are in adjustment. Be sure your steering gear does not have too much play. Be sure the motor takes hold as it should.

One of our friends in the garage business informs that more than 50 per cent of all cars which come into his shop are badly out of adjustment. The driver rarely mentions even part of the things that demand attention.

For your own safety, therefore, and the safety of others on the road

TRAFFIC OFFICERS' WHITE CAR PROVING A BUGABOO

(Newport News)

Almost any motorist, if he keeps one eye fastened on his rear vision mirror, can "beat the law" on California highways! The speed cop, driving a white car, or grimly riding his white motorcycle, hasn't a chance!

You can accept a traffic officer's word for that somewhat amazing admission. It's only when the motorist's eye wanders from the mirror that he gets caught.

But death sounds the siren, every year, for hundreds of "rear vision drivers" who beat the law with reckless consistency—as long as they lived!

A traffic officer's citation, or a word of warning, might have saved their lives, but it never caught up with them!

Such is the story of "the white car handicap," as related by veteran officers of the highway patrol.

As a result, California legislators are seriously debating the advisability of abolishing the distinctive white cars and authorizing the traffic officers to patrol the highways in black cars, blue cars, or cars of any color which will increase their effectiveness in the battle against mounting highway fatalities.

What the public's reaction will be is still undetermined. It was public dislike for being suddenly overhauled in a moment of haste or recklessness which first brought about creation of the white patrol. But many of the legislators believe that California's unenviable record last year as "the worst accident state in the nation" may have brought a change in public opinion.

FAMOUS SALE WILL OPEN SATURDAY

"Starting tomorrow morning at 8:30 sharp the Famous Department store, Fourth and Bush streets, launches its great semi-annual Super-Famous Day, and will remain open until 9 o'clock to enable everyone to get his share of the marvelous values," said George Kidd, manager of the local Famous store.

"Several months ago," continued Kidd, "the Famous staff of buyers began planning this event; they visited every available market, to gather such merchandise that could be offered to customers at prices that would reflect the savings to them."

"The Great Super-Famous Day sale comes just in time for thrifty Easter shoppers; all of the newest spring and early summer fashions in every department, including clothing for men, women and children, shoes, hosiery, accessories together with the thousands of other items carried by this well known store, will be on display and all at prices that will assist the thrifty to keep well within their budget for the coming Easter season."

"I urge everyone to shop early," said Kidd. "And I want to take this opportunity to promise all of our patrons, old and new, that every item will be exactly as advertised. Absolute satisfaction or your money will be refunded. We will have plenty of experienced salespeople at our store, to serve you with courtesy and satisfaction. I am looking for this to be the biggest day of days and will expect you, so be on hand early for biggest savings."

The Super-Famous Day starts tomorrow morning at 8:30.

The Ohio legislature in 1812 enacted a law which made bringing into the state a deck of cards an offense punishable by a fine of from $5 to $25.

Highway be sure that your car is in good mechanical condition. Surely your own life and the lives of those who ride with you are deserving of this consideration.

ANGELS WOULD SEND NEVA TO PONCA CITY

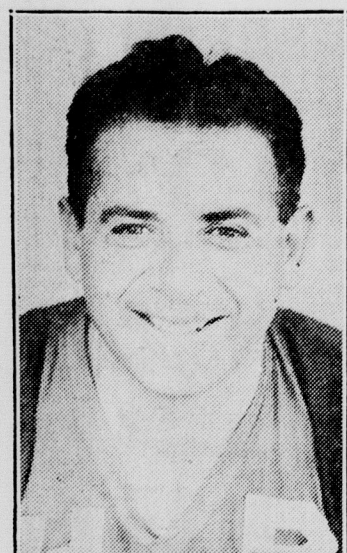

Columbian Left

By PAUL WRIGHT

Rumors afloat that Joe Rodgers will bolt the Huntington Beach nightball ranks to accept a managerial post at Anaheim are not "hot copy" because Joe himself has other offers from two American league clubs and Hanford of the San Joaquin Valley league.

It is strictly guess-work as to where the "Little Napoleon" will land. Only one thing is certain—he is definitely returning to the game despite an announcement of

W. M. (Pop) Clayton, vice-principal who is one of the Saints' most ardent athletic supporters, annually presents a necktie to the first prep poling a home run at Poly field. Joe Ortega got it this year. . . . Joe Koegler, varsity coach, has promised a new baseball to each player for his first home run of the season. Pitcher Ortega and Gene O'Campo, first-baseman, already have earned the prize.

MANAGER JOE RODGERS

Where is He Headed?

his retirement last fall. Joe says he has received approximately 1,000 letters and phone calls urging him to remain in nightball.

"I hope to remain with the Oilers if the Huntington Beach commission will meet certain terms. The season is drawing near, and I must know just where I stand within the next few days," Rodgers remarked.

Whether the celebrated Louie Neva, Russian hurler deluxe, will team with Rodgers again remains a mystery. There was a report from Los Angeles today that Neva, who is giving baseball a fling, has been signed to play for Ponca City, Okla. in the Western association.

Do you know there hasn't been a hole-in-one at the Santa Ana country club since L. D. Coffing scored his ace last September?

Ernest Butterworth, the Dons' rugby coach, ran the 100-yard dash as a school boy in Canada.

Exponents argue that abolition of the tip-off in basketball has speeded up the game, adding five to six minutes actual playing time, increasing scoring 10 per cent and reducing injuries incurred in the inevitable player-jam after the center-jump.

Sammy Lockhart, the Saints' all-Coast Prep league guard in basketball, has been offered a scholarship at the University of California. . . . The Francis brothers, Sammy and Paul, from Tustin's Orange league cage champions are said to be headed for Brigham Young university in Utah.

First hold-out of the Santa Ana Stars in nightball may be Danny Frias, the club's midget mascot. He will "demand" a regulation uniform from Manager "Doc" Smith.

Lewis Wetherell, king of Santa Ana tennis, is the No. 2 man in both singles and doubles at U. S. C. This means something when you consider the number of outstanding netters enlisted by the great university. . . . Gene Mako, Davis cup player and former national intercollegiate champion, is No. 1 in singles, and teams with Jack Hall in No. 1 doubles. Wetherell's doubles partner is Jack Knemeyer.

Leavitt Daley, Anaheim nightball star who injured his knee in a pipe-line explosion in the Long Beach oil fields recently, is still on crutches. . . . Orange's Cubs have Pitcher Roger Larimer's name on a 1937 contract. They expect big things from Roger this year.

RAINS DELAY PHILLIES MAY DONS' TRACK AND RUGBY LAND AGAIN IN CELLAR

Santa Ana Junior college's scheduled rugby appearance against the Hollywood Athletic club tonight in the Municipal Bowl was postponed today because of inclement weather. Ernest Butterworth's rugger probably will play the match next Tuesday, according to Coach Bill Cook.

D'MAGGIO SIGNS FOR $15,000

NEW YORK. (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, sensational sophomore outfielder of the world champion New York Yankees, today came to terms for the 1937 season.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the club, announced DiMaggio had accepted the club's offer, understood to call for a salary of $15,000 and an increase of $6500 over last year's pay to the youthful slugger.

Notre Dame Coach Killed in Crash DEATH TAKES 'ONE-PLAY' O'BRIEN

Chicago Accident Fatal To N. D. Assistant in Football and Track

CHICAGO. (AP)—John J. (One Play) O'Brien, 31, assistant football and track coach at Notre Dame university, was killed early today when his automobile crashed into a railway viaduct pillar.

O'Brien was en route to his South Bend, Ind., home after a speaking engagement at Harvard, Ill., when the accident occurred.

He earned the sobriquet "one-play" in 1928 against the Army by catching a 40-yard touchdown pass on his first play of the game to upset the Cadets 12 to 7. The late Coach Knute Rocke pulled him out immediately after the feat.

He served as assistant football coach at Annapolis for two years and was head gridiron mentor at St. Edward's College at Austin, Tex.

O'Brien is survived by his widow, the former Leona Martin of Los Angeles, and three children.

BRETHREN FIVES ANNEX GAMES

The Christian Missionary Alliance basketball team was swamped by the high-scoring Church of the Brethren quintet last night, 41-14, at the Y. M. C. A. Barris, tied for high scoring with 12 points with R. Teter.

In the feature match, the United Brethren quintet scored a hard 9-16 decision over the Santa Ana Nazarenes. Yount hit the basket for nine points.

Arizmendi Fights Vaughn Tonight

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Young Jimmy Vaughn of Cleveland and the veteran Baby Arizmendi of Los Angeles meet tonight at 10 rounds at the Hollywood Legion stadium.

Arizmendi, once a ranking featherweight, has developed into a lightweight. Whether he has retained enough of his former speed to hold the Cleveland, who has an impressive record, remains to be seen.

TRAINING CAMP DOPE

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP)—The new home plate with beveled edges, to be used in the National league this season, was installed at the Denison field training base of the Philadelphia National leagues.

MEXICO CITY. (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics favor substituting Mexican pitching for the brand they expect in the American league this season. The Mackmen, in two games, walloped native pitchers' offerings for 45 hits and 36 runs in shelling the Agrarians, 18 to 1 and 18 to 3.

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates started batting practice, the first since they reached training camp four days ago. Each played took five or six swings at the ball, and Red Lucas, pitcher, drove two against the fence.

CATALINA ISLAND. (AP)—Manager Charlie Grimm of the Cubs had his first look at Rookie Outfielder Joe Marty, and expressed pleasure over Marty's batting style and evident power. He is the only rookie given a chance to make the regular team.

HAVANA. (AP)—If the Giants' spring training exhibitions are any indication, the National league champions are going to have the same old trouble this year: No hitting. In seven games against Cuban opposition, they've scored only 21 runs, and yesterday collected only five hits in a 12-inning tie with the Cuban professional all-stars.

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—The reports of Bobby Doerr's progress appear to have disturbed Ossie Melillo, for that veteran Red Soxer arrived four days ahead of the deadline and today he will start battling the San Diego rookie for whatever slice of the second base job Manager Joe Cronin doesn't want.

Jure Scores Here But Moore Loses

By KENNETH ADAMS

Sixteen rip-roarin' fighters all but tore up the ring at the Orange County Athletic club last night when Matchmaker George Stewart presented his second action-packed card to a good-sized house.

There wasn't a poorly matched fight in the entire eight bouts. The fans howled their approval of the calibre of the matches, which were climaxed by the terrific slugfest put on by the Santa Ana jayaws, Maxie Moore, and Rico Martinez, Sherman Indian.

The redskin scalped Maxie by a hair to take the nod after four rounds of toe-to-toe slugging that had the gallery in an uproar from start to finish. It was an outright brawl, neither fighter paying any attention to the matter of boxing. Each round they clamped their foreheads together and then threw bruising rights and lefts as fast and hard as they could.

In the first bout of the double main event, Everett (Cyclone) Jure took all the starch out of Louie Hamilton, L. A., with his crashing lefts to the midsection. Hamilton came back with straight lefts to score several telling blows, but the clever Jure had him all washed up in the fourth.

What promised to be a stand-out battle came to a sudden end in the second stanza when Phil Carreon of Los Angeles ripped open Don Benzo's right eye. The former Anaheim Mexican was in a daze over ducky Al Landry, L. A., in the opener, a free-for-all brawl.

PORTLAND 'SET' FOR SEASON Beavers Upset Seattle, 13-8

FULLERTON. (AP)—With the opening of the Pacific Coast league season three weeks off, the Portland Beavers appear to be "set" for the actual warfare to-day.

Both infield and outfield are intact, and with Bill Wilson from Des Moines to help Bill Cronin behind the plate, Manager Bill Sweeney's main worries are with the club's pitching.

Chief loss to the majors was Bill Vossler, who won 25 games for the coast champions last season. An even dozen hurlers are in camp now, and nine will be carried during the season.

SANTA MONICA. (AP)—Manager Spencer Abbott and his Seattle Indians resumed training here today after splitting a pair of exhibition games with the Portland Beavers at Fullerton.

Winners of the first affair, the Indians dropped yesterday's contest, 13 to 8, as the Beavers fell on two hurlers for 16 hits, four of them for the circuit.

Second Baseman Freddie Muller of Seattle blasted out a pair of home runs, and his successor, Kreiger, added another.

ONTARIO. (AP)—Showing zest despite the grind meted out by cascaded down Benzo's chest. Benzo didn't want to quit, but had to.

And what a wild battle the Indian from Sherman, Tommy Young, and Riverside's Jesse Alfaro staged! Alfaro appeared to be nearly done after two furious frames, which ended with Young smeared with his own blood and Alfaro with a big knot under his eye.

But the Mexican cut Young to pieces with vicious short stabs to take the nod.

A tough little Injun, Uley Davis from Sherman, bowed to scrappy Joe Guerrero, Riverside Mexican. Davis tried a game comeback in the final stanza, but already had dropped the decision, losing the first round when he was knocked to his knees.

Tony Muller, white Santa Ana novice, was no match for sharp-shooting Pete Lopez from L. A. The towel came in from Muller's corner in the second round after three right crosses had floored him as many times.

Black Duke Hayes of Los Angeles and Larry (Canvas-Back) Thomas, now of Oceanview, staged a riot for the fans. Thomas surprised some fans by staying the four rounds and giving the heavier negro a good fight. Thomas lost by a considerable margin, however having been off his feet several times, once nearly landing in the seats.

Sherman's Indian George Hills won a decision over ducky Al Landry, L. A., in the opener, a free-for-all brawl.

Three Battle for Right to Meet Stanford Cagers

SEATTLE. (AP)—The right to meet the University of Oregon next week for the northern division basketball title will be at stake tonight when Washington and Washington State battle on the university pavilion.

The championship playoff, first in northern division history, was made necessary when the three institutions finished the regular season in a three-way split.

More than 10,000 persons were expected to jam the pavilion tonight.

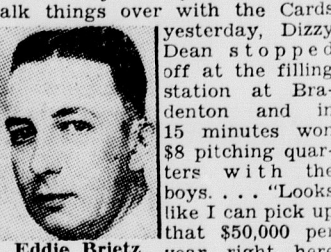

The northern champion will meet Stanford, southern titleholder, for the coast title.

Manager Truck Hannah, the Los Angeles ball club took a heavy batting fling today preparing for a game tomorrow with the Ontario Merchants aggregation.

Murray (Babe) Howell, the Angels' new outfielder, looks impressive at the plate, and is being depended upon to bolster the Los Angeles scoring attack this season.

Sports Roundup

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—On the way to Daytona Beach to talk things over with the Cards yesterday, Dizzy Dean stopped off at the filling station at Bradenton and in 15 minutes won $8 pitching quarters with the boys. . . . "Looks like I can pick up that $50,000 per year right here at home," commented Dizzy as he pocketed the dough. . . . The Yankees haven't given up on Lou Gehrig yet. . . . They recall the last time Lou was a hold-out, he and Colonel Ruppert rode south on the same train. . . . Not a word has been heard here from Joe DiMaggio. . . . Baseball men, who can't imagine a Yankee exhibition tour through the South and Southwest without Gehrig to draw the customers, believe Lou will get his $40,000 if he waits long enough, but one and a half million dollars is just stubborn to let DiMaggio sit at home a year before paying the $25,000 he demands. In the meantime, the camp awaits the Ruppert arrival, now set for Sunday.

Jimmy Hamilton of Nashville predicts Cincinnati will win the pennant in two years. . . . "If Dressed was a football coach," said Hamilton "You would say he has 'em three deep' . . . As he left for his Bradenton, Fla., home, Dean declared he was retiring from baseball and entering other business.

Dean said he had offered Dean a salary equal to last year's $22,500, with a "little more money" to be added if certain contract clauses were eliminated. These clauses promised higher pay if home attendance reached 500,000 and if the Cards won the pennant.

"Old Diz" hinted he might think of some sort of compromise, if the compromise figure were a big one, but Dean said there would be no compromise.

"If he retires we'll have to get along without him, and we'll prepare to do so," he declared.

JIM WILKINS SLATED FOR CATALINA

Russian Nightball Star Of Oilers Impresses In L. A. Workouts

Louie (Neva) Novikoff, Russian who pitched Huntington Beach to two successive Southern California Nightball association titles, will desert the softball ranks this year for a fling at organized baseball—probably with Ponca City, Okla., champions of the Western association.

Reports that Neva will be signed by the Los Angeles Angels for season as an outfielder at their Glahomna farm were verified today by Art Velkman, manager of the Los Angeles rookies' camp now in training at Wrigley field in Los Angeles.

"We do not know definitely whether Neva will go to Ponca City until we break training here March 23," Velkman said. "He's shown promise as a hitter, and we have listed him for Ponca City."

Neva has been hitting the ball hard in workouts, and was especially impressive early this week against the offerings of Edwin Carnett, Santa Ana southpaw who two years ago pitched Ponca City to the Western association title.

Other clubs have been dickering for Neva, but it is known the Russian is willing to go to Ponca City "if the right arrangements can be made." He could not be reached for a statement today.

Velkman told The Journal it is virtually certain Jimmy Wilkins, former Santa Ana High school chucker, will be returned to Catalina in May for another season with the Catalina Cubs. Wilkins, 17, was the outstanding hurler among the youngsters on the island last season.

Carnett has reported to Ontario for workouts with Manager Harry (Truck) Hannah's Los Angeles regulars.

'DIZ' REMAINS HOLDOUT

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals will prepare to go through the season without Dizzy Dean, Sam Bradenton, president of the club, announced after a series of contract conferences yesterday failed to shake the pitcher's demand for a $50,000 salary.

As he left for his Bradenton, Fla., home, Dean declared he was retiring from baseball and entering other business.

Dean said he had offered Dean a salary equal to last year's $22,500, with a "little more money" to be added if certain contract clauses were eliminated. These clauses promised higher pay if home attendance reached 500,000 and if the Cards won the pennant.

Pittman Battles Ickes Over Names to Go On Memorial

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A senate committee is engaged in a controversy over whose names shall be perpetuated in bronze plaques atop Boulder dam. It decided congress should have some say about "What's in a name."

Running counter to Secretary Ickes, who already has selected the names to be inscribed and has completed plans for erecting the memorial tablets, the senate irrigation and reclamation committee has approved a bill placing the selection of the historic names and the method of their perpetuation entirely within the hands of a special commission.

Argue 18 Months

Senator Key Pittman (D-New), author of the bill, told the committee he and Ickes had argued the question in 18 months of correspondence.

"I learned," Pittman said, "the secretary contemplated inscribing the names of dozens of interior department clerks who had nothing whatever to do with the dam, while the list omitted many persons who were instrumental in bringing about construction, including some of the governors of the Colorado river states."

Ickes, he said, already has entered a contract with a bronze company to erect a plaque containing the secretary's choice of names.

Pittman told the committee the dam was under contract and construction before Ickes and his assistants entered office.

Ickes Fights Bill

The secretary reported unfavorably on the Pittman bill, saying it was "unnecessary" since the interior department had completed memorializing plans.

Pittman's measure proposed establishment of a Boulder dam architectural and memorial commission composed of the secretaries of the interior and treasury, chairman of the commission of fine arts, and the chairman and ranking minority members of the senate and house irrigation and reclamation committees.

The commission would determine the "designs, plans and specifications for the architectural and sculptural additions and embellishments to the dam and the names, histories and other inscriptions that shall be placed thereon."

Lenten Meditations

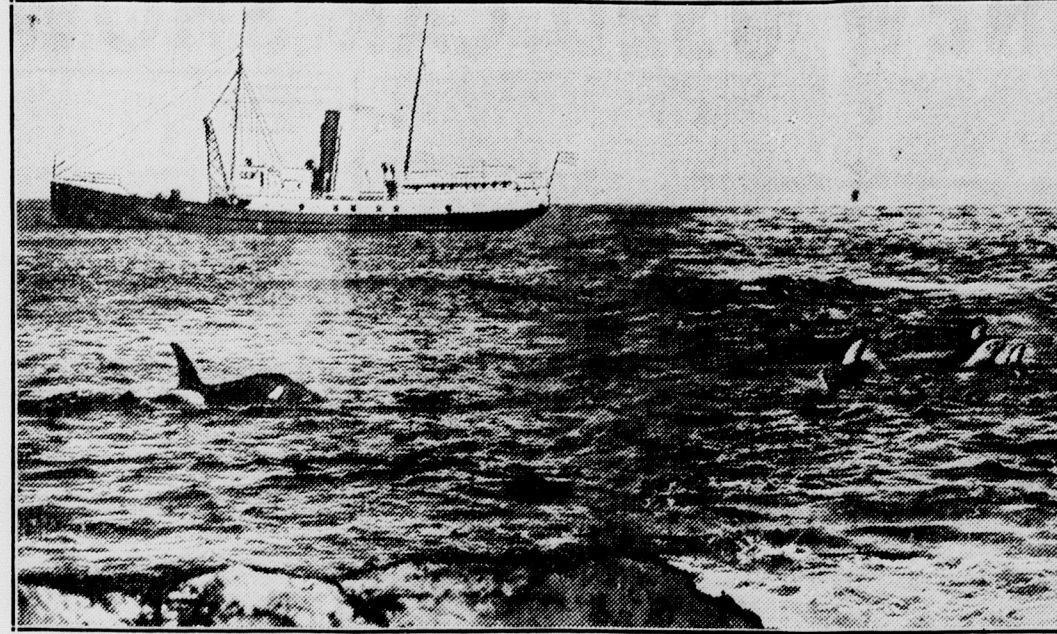

"Hope maketh not ashamed," Read Romans 5:1-8.

Saint Paul is fond of word sequences, in which one idea grows logically out of another. Consider the passage for the day: tribulation-patience-experience-hope. No one but a Christian would have thought of words in such a series. The average man would say: trouble - impatience - disillusionment - despair.

The word "hope" has lost far too much of its Christian meaning. We use it today to suggest the bare possibilities that things may turn out a little better in the future. Thus, we speak of "hoping against hope."

The Christian word "hope" is entirely lacking in this note of uncertainty as to the outcome of

CHINA BEST U. S. PLANE CUSTOMER

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The commerce department, reporting total exports of aeronautical products at $23,055,761 last year, said China maintained its position as the best market for American aircraft.

China led in purchases of American planes, engines and aeronautical accessories for the third successive year, sales last year totaling $7,185,556.

The next best customer for United States aircraft was Argentina, with purchases totaling $2,269,914.

Exports, to other countries included: Netherlands, $1,108,335; Netherlands Indies, $1,063,509; Japan, $989,100; Mexico, $850,101; France, $675,546; Italy, $631,270; Brazil, $550,992; Germany, $411,252; Russia, $268,725; Spain, $118,871.

life. What lies between the present moment and that goal may be obscure, the end is plain and clear.

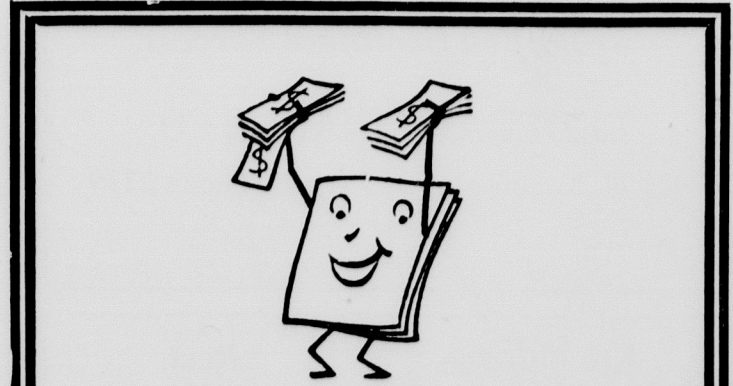

We are living in a day when cynicism is much too comfortably close to our minds. We need to recover the conviction that in the long run evil is suicidal and that goodness alone has "survival value." Through a medieval book of devotions written by the English mystic, Julian of Norwich, there rings repeatedly, like the note of a great bell, one recurring sentence: "All shall be well, and all shall be well, and all manner of things shall be well." This is Christian hope.

Prayer: Almighty God, who hast granted us through Jesus Christ a reasonable hope, save us from living as those who have no hope, and teach us to lean upon Thy power to make all things work together for good. Amen.

WHO'S BIGGEST GLUTTON? Giant Priest Seeks Title

TOKYO. (AP)—Kin Fu Ki, 32-year-old Korean Buddhist priest who is seven feet, nine inches tall and weighs 303 pounds, planned a trip to the United States today to challenge American giants to an eating contest.

Reminded the United States has a man nine feet three inches tall, the towering priest retorted: "But I am sure I can beat him eating because I can eat five times as much rice as a Japanese soldier."

Old Oil Wells Tested For Possibility of 'Comeback' By New Electric Furnace

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—The earth's first oil filling station that forced petroleum into the buried rocks 60,000,000 years ago, is brought back in a new electric furnace at the Pennsylvania State college.

The furnace is a new method of assaying the possibilities of recovering some of the 80 per cent of the country's oil that the wells fail to bring up. It is described in the bulletin of the American Federation of Petroleum Geologists.

The furnace forces a thin, red liquid into the rocks which oil men call "sands." Rocks, hard enough to use in building, take the red stuff like blotters.

Capillaries Filled

Similarly the earth once filled these same rocks with petroleum. It filled more than the visible "pores." There were "capillaries," channels as fine as a pin scratch, that also took the oil.

It is these capillaries which the new furnace fills and reveals. They are mazes. They differ with various oil formations. If the mazes are right, oil can be successfully forced out after ordinary pumping is through.

Once it took months to trace the mazi in a single sample of rock from an oil well. The new furnace makes it possible to analyze several samples in a few hours.

Size of Water Pail

The furnace is about the size of a water pail. The samples are placed inside, each bearing a piece of balsam, dyed red. All the air is pumped out, even from the capillaries. Then the heat is run up high to melt the red balsam.

Compressed air next enters, raising the pressure in the furnace to 80 pounds. This forces the red liquid into every pore and capillary. The rocks come out of the furnace red. They are sliced into thin layers and laid like a biologist's tissue specimens, on a glass slide under a microscope.

According to their capillary structure, the oil operator whose well has dried up, can be advised whether it will be economical to put on pressure. This is done by pumping water into the well. As water is heavier than oil, the weight alone sometimes brings up oil. Pressure may also be applied to the water.

Menace of Morning Glory In U. S. Is Recognized

CHICAGO. (AP)—Spread of bindweed, with its bell shaped blossoms on twining vines that choke crops to death, was recognized today as a serious menace to agriculture in half a dozen western states.

Infestations of the weed, known also as Creeping Jenny, Creeping Charlie, European or wild morning glory and pea vine, have been found in 30 other states. Farmers were apprehensive over its virility and resistance to control.

"At Every Step"

Leonard W. Kephart, senior agronomist, U. S. department of agriculture, said he had seen places in Nebraska, Minnesota, Kansas and South Dakota where "a man can cross an entire county and walk on the weed at every step."

Authorities in Nebraska, Kansas, Montana, Wyoming, Iowa and Illinois, regarded the situation so impelling that legislative proposals seeking eradication under study.

Agronomist Kephart said the weed was native to Europe and probably was imported with barley and oat seed 30 or 40 years ago.

Spread During Drought

The weed spread extensively during the drought years. Because of its deep roots, sometimes down 20 to 30 feet seeking moisture, the vines survived when other vegetation withered. The creeping vines produce a dense covering and their roots rob corn and other shallow-rooted crops of moisture. The vines also wrap themselves around stalks and roots and choke off life.

Farmers regard the weed as the most persistent they have ever seen. Tops have been cut off as many as 50 to 60 times and the plants have regrown. Chlorates used by some farmers to kill the weed, cost upwards of $60 an acre, which was regarded as too expensive.

DYKSTRA WILL COURT MARTIAL HEAD U. OF W. FOR NAVY MAN

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Associated Press learned reliably today that the executive committee of the University of Wisconsin board of regents had elected Clarence A. Dykstra, city manager of Cincinnati, to succeed Dr. Glenn Faxon as president of the university.

Proposes Nautical School for L. A.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Representative Charles J. Olden of San Pedro, Calif., proposed that the government aid in establishment of a nautical training school at Los Angeles.

Two bills introduced by Olden would:

Provide that the government match state or city funds up to $25,000 annually to finance the school; authorize the navy to assign a vessel to the school, and provide for transfer from the maritime commission to the Sea Rovers of America of a vessel suitable for training personnel for the U. S. merchant marine.

Finish 63 Miles Of American Canal

BRAWLEY. (AP)—An engineering report today showed the All-American canal, bringing Colorado river water to Imperial valley, is completed for 63 miles of its 81-mile route.

The Imperial dam and desilting plant are now 52 per cent complete, Engineer R. B. Williams said. Early in 1939 the entire $30,000,000 project is expected to be finished.

HONOLULU. (AP)—A court martial pressed charges today of drunkenness and conduct unbecoming an officer against a navy lieutenant who was named by police as a member of a drinking party which preceded Mrs. Bennett S. Copping's story she was criminally attacked last Feb. 15.

Detective Lieut. Thomas Quinn of the Honolulu police force said he was subpoenaed to appear before the court martial trying Lieut. W. O. Johnson of the cruiser Louisville.

Attended Party

Chief of Police William Gabrielson said Lieut. Johnson attended a party with the Coppings and other naval folk the evening before the alleged attack occurred in a garage near the Coppings' residential hotel. Lieut. Johnson left the party early.

Quinn said Lieut. Johnson, R. Allen, attached to the fleet airbase, and Dolores Debeck, a nurse, who police said accompanied Mrs. Copping and Mrs. Johnson from the drinking party to the Coppings' rooms, also were asked to testify yesterday.

The alleged assault was not mentioned during the first day's testimony, navy officers said.

Tells of Attack

Mrs. Copping told her husband she was seized and attacked early February 15 when she left her rooms to go to an outside washroom. Lieut. Johnson, then commander of a submarine at Pearl Harbor, reported the details to police, and a search was made for the assailant, a "tall white man," whom Mrs. Copping said she did not know.

An examination disclosed Mrs. Copping was not attacked, Dr. Henry Akina, city-county surgeon said. The Coppings sailed for the United States February 27.

PAINTING BY EX-NEWSBOY WINS AGAIN

CHICAGO. (AP)—A former Indianapolis newsboy who won the major award for portraiture in the 1937 Hoosier salon rates heavy farm labor as an important element in his success.

It was hay pitching and mule driving, along with the solitude of the farm, said Roy A. Ketcham, that gave him the "urge" to paint. Tutored by noted artists in New York and Paris, Ketcham was undecided about his career until he "found himself" on his father's farm at Logansport, Ind.

Time to Meditate

For five years he worked at hard farm tasks. But he had time to meditate—for example, while riding on a corn cultivator, behind the mules. The farm scenery helped.

"It was a beautiful place," he said. "There was a stream meandering through a valley, and hills blue in the distance. One could feel absolute seclusion."

"It was just a matter of making up my mind," he added, "and that hard work on the farm helped do it."

Two-Time Winner

His current competitive triumph marked the second time he had won the chief portrait prize in the Hoosier salon at the Marshall Field galleries in Chicago.

"The long grey line extending into the centuries old..."

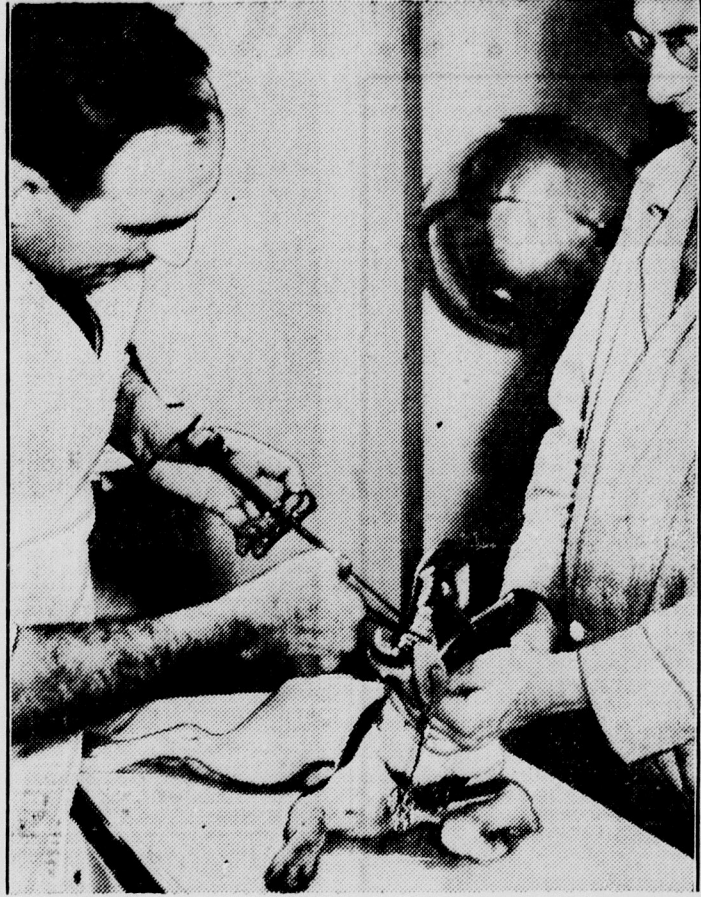

Father of Ten To Head U. C. L. A.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A mathematics professor who is the father of 10 children is soon to become provost and vice president of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Appointment of Dr. Earle Raymond Hedrick to the provostship left vacant by the retirement of Dr. E. C. Moore last April was announced by Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California.

Dr. Hedrick, now professor of mathematics, will assume his new duties officially March 19, when he will be the principal speaker at ceremonies celebrating the 60th anniversary of the state institution.

PENSION TEST SURVEY IS ORDERED

CHELAN, Wash. (AP)—A civic committee has set out to put the "Crelan Townsend test" under a microscope to determine just what it has proven—if anything.

Cheelan was the birthplace two months ago of the Townsend revolving dollar experiment, now widely copied, in which a person more than 60 years of age received $200 to spend within 30 days. A two per cent tax is paid by merchants voluntarily on all transactions with the marked money or checks.

"We don't know whether the test of the Townsend plan has proved a success," declared Lloyd Ford, chamber of commerce president, "but we're going to find out." He appointed a committee to investigate.

FIT CHILDREN DRIVE ON

Part of the "fitter Britain" campaign is the drive just started for fitter children. Those between the ages of 14 and 16 are to come under the national health insurance plan. Various government departments are discussing how best to raise the standards of physical condition. Both children and adults will be invited to attend gymnasiums and local authorities will be urged to provide more games and sports facilities for all ages.

PICK CENSORS OF FILMS AT CORONATION

LONDON. (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury and the Duke of Norfolk have been appointed official censors of all news films to be taken inside Westminster Abbey during the coronation May 12 of King George VI.

Five motion picture news companies pledged themselves to submit their reels to the censors before they are released.

This will slow up distribution and may cause Gaumont-British Pictures corporation to abandon their plan to fly the films to the United States.

The head of King Leopold III appears for the first time on a Belgium coin on the new five-franc piece.

A MESSAGE

TO MY OLD FRIENDS

Many thanks for your consistent patronage in the past. You are the "ones" who have made it possible for me to open this new "up-to-the-minute" used car lot.

Appreciating the trend in the automobile business toward First street as the "auto row" of Santa Ana, I have established my new location at 311 East First street on my own property. From this location I will conduct my business as before always adhering to the policy of giving customers a square deal.

I have associated with me as accountant "Ray" Bullock who was formerly deputy county assessor, in the Orange County assessors office for the past seven years.

TO MY NEW FRIENDS

In 1919 I operated the first used car lot in Santa Ana, which was at Third and Broadway. In 1920 in partnership I opened a lot at Third and Bush. In 1925 I bought out the lot entirely and moved to First and Main. In 1935 I moved to Second and Main and am now opening this used car lot on my own property.

With the opening of my up to date lot I intend to offer "up-to-date" auto values and in the future I want all my newly found friends to become my old friends.

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE VALUES THAT I AM OFFERING TODAY

SEEK CAPITAL TO PROMOTE HOUSING

Chamber Invites Money From Outside for Home Building

Santa Ana took steps today to attract building capital to this city.

Faced with an acute housing shortage, officials of the chamber of commerce decided yesterday afternoon to appeal to outside capital to take advantage of the situation in this city by investing money in a big building program.

It was pointed out that there are no vacancies in the 12 bigger apartment houses in the city. The chamber feels that the city is losing many permanent residents because people who come here to stay for a time before building can find no place to live. This type of person is able to pay from $50 to $100 a month for a good apartment, the chamber believes.

There also is an acute shortage of cheaper or average-priced apartment houses, the chamber survey just completed revealed. There are practically no rentals available in desirable homes in the city, it was found.

Secretary Howard I. Wood of the chamber also called attention to the fact that in the active downtown business area there are no store vacancies. It is felt that for these reasons Santa Ana is a particularly attractive field for building investments at this time.

county compensation insurance fund pays for her rent, laundry, nurse, food, wheel chair, medicines and doctor's supervision.

Many Recover

Miss Griggs was transferred from the county hospital to the Fullerton institution June 8, 1936. The county compensation insurance fund pays $7 per day for her private room, board, and general care, $2.50 per day for regular treatments, and various amounts for special treatments, medicines, braces, and doctor's supervision.

She receives disability compensation payments based on her salary at the time she was taken ill. Many of the original cases have recovered. County records show six working, six married, two taking post graduate work at Oakland, and one living in Idaho. All these have been judged as recovered and are not receiving compensation.

Three are under treatment at the county hospital. One, Mary V. Parks, has a private room in the hospital proper. Miss Marie Corey and Miss Jean Curtis have private rooms in a special cottage built for the "polio" nurses in 1936. There they have a special nurse, separate kitchen and other facilities.

Miss Biffel Cagle also lives in the cottage at times, but usually goes home evenings. Under a rehabilitation service she is taking a laboratory course at the hospital. The three receive disability compensation payments.

Rather than take the compensation insurance payments, Miss Marva Best elected to take a lump sum settlement, and was awarded $27,220 by the industrial accident commission on Jan. 28, 1937. She lives in Los Angeles and is furnished with braces by the county insurance fund.

Two others living at home receive compensation payments. These are Elsie Sylvia, now living at New Bedford, Mass., and Margaret Hess, now living at Coronado Beach.

Mildred Granger Lee, living at El Modena, claimed disability but was turned down by the industrial accident commission after a hearing. Twice since her application for rehearing have been denied by the commission.

or more, as required in the specifications. Relying on the Eden firm to supply oil according to specifications, the county road department spread it on several roads in accordance with calculations based on the minimum asphaltic content, the answer said.

The oil has caused the roads to crack and erode, damaging the county to the amount of $3000, the answer charges.

On Nov. 18, after the election campaign charges had burst, the firm refused to deliver an order of 1000 barrels until it had been tested by the county at the Eden plant at Huntington Beach, the answer charged. The test, McKinney declared, showed less as-

Greet Personaliti Contestants

JEAN ROGERS

Beautiful Jean Rogers will greet all entrants in the Orange County Peace Officers association personality contest tomorrow night, when they will be judged at the annual peace officers' ball, to be held in Valencia ballroom, highway 101. Beatrice Smith of Santa Ana will be hostess to actresses who will attend.

Sylvan Simon, Universal studio talent executive, will act as judge of the contest, which has attracted many entries from throughout the county.

Judging, said Lee Mann, contest director, will be extremely difficult, due to the outstanding characteristics of all entrants.

Late entries include Patricia

Pope, Jean House Lyons and Dorothy Leonard of Laguna Beach, and Henrietta Baker, Lila Adrian, Dick McShane, Wally Grigg and Bill Lloyd of Santa Ana.

Many studio representatives other than Miss Rogers will make personal appearance at the dance, Mann said today. Miss Barbara Read, Laguna Beach girl, who scored a hit in "Three Wise Girls" and is now engaged in making her second picture, will be among them.

Others will include Noah Beery, jr. and several other stars from the Universal lot.

Two winners will be selected from among the Orange county entrants, to be given screen test and opportunity for picture fame.

H. B. BATTLES FOR SHARE OF OIL

A two-fisted battle by representatives of Huntington Beach, seeking a share of oil royalties for the city, opened in the senate legislature yesterday as two senate oil bills were reported without recommendation.

T. B. Talbert, prominent beach oil man and former supervisor, appeared at the committee meetings and explained the position of Huntington Beach in seeking a share of any oil produced by the state. The city, he said, has been put to great expense through damaged playgrounds and because of increased fire hazard, and will suffer further loss if the state drilling plan is adopted.

Two bills were presented by the senate oil committee, one sponsored by Culbert Olson and the other by Senators Rich and Swing. Both would permit "island" drilling in some form, although Olson's would allow the state 30 per cent royalties, while that presented by Swing and Rich allows the state less than 17 per cent.

Senator Swing urged that the constitution would not allow the state to give away any of its property, thus royalties should be retained, but Senator Harry Westover, Santa Ana, said he would offer an amendment to permit the city to share in the state royalties.

Merits of the two bills will be thrashed out on the floor.

'Dognappers' Ring Reported Busy

OKLAHOMA CITY. (AP)—Mrs. Warder White, Oklahoma City humane officer, thinks a "dognapper" ring is making off with household pets hereabouts and peddling them in other cities.

"I've done everything I could to put a stop to the stealing of dogs here," Mrs. White said today, "but so far I've not had much luck."

Theft of dogs, most of them pedigreed animals, are reported every day, she said. Heaviest losses were around Christmas, when more than 50 dogs were reported abducted, she said.

Senator Picketed During Address

BOSTON. (AP)—After a half-hearted demonstration against him by a handful of pickets, Senator Copeland (D., N. Y.) today declared himself "pessimistic" about the "chaos" of the existing United States merchant marine situation. Copeland was given a police escort immediately upon his arrival in Boston, but the dozen pickets who paraded outside the building in which he spoke caused no disturbance. They disbanded as soon as he entered.

PICKETS WON'T TELL

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Larry Dada, George Parker and Elaine Black, who picketed the German consulate here last Jan. 29, faced the alternative today of telling a court their home addresses, or going to jail. Municipal Judge Thomas Foley gave them 24 hours to tell him where they lived. The picketing was in connection with the Spanish civil war.

SMOKE SCREEN

ST. JOSEPH. (AP)—Firemen doused a house blaze, then returned to the station shaking their heads despondently. Workmen who repaired the roof, they said, inadvertently covered over the chimney opening.

fore which he appeared would not listen to his statement.

Then He "Revolted"

"I realized that I, as the representative of millions of people, though they be poor and needy, was not to have the same privilege accorded to me that was accorded to the money bags of the nation."

"It was then I revolted. I told this committee that I would not further stand for the sort of inquisition and persecution that had taken place, and walked out."

Townsend's release on bond was opposed by U. S. District Attorney Leslie C. Garnett, who said a supreme court decision has laid down the rule no bail should be permitted after a conviction unless a serious question of law is involved.

Would Do It Again

In his statement, Townsend said: "I stand convicted before a United States district court of violating an act of congress in failure to appear before a committee before which I did appear. However, I feel certain that before the bar of public opinion I am guiltless of any wrongdoing. . . . I would do the same thing again tomorrow should the occasion arise, under similar circumstances."

He also said 500 improvements have been made in his pension plan since the bill was introduced in congress last session. The plan, he asserted, does not call for a flat payment of $200 a month to all persons over 60.

He explained the proposal calls for a 2 per cent tax on all transactions. The amount of the pension, not to exceed $200, would be determined by the amount of money available.

Two of Townsend's aides, John B. Kiefer of Chicago and Clinton B. Wunder of New York, pleaded guilty to the same contempt charge of which Townsend was convicted, but were given suspended sentences after apologizing to the house.

EXPECT MORE SHOWERS TO FALL HERE

Prospects of another week-end rain faced Orange county residents today, as two storm centers converged upon this area, bringing showers which left about a quarter-inch of rain during the night.

Light showers, which did not damage but started immediately to run off due to the ground being water filled from previous rains, left 19 inches in Santa Ana, raising the season's total to 19.66 inches as compared to 7.35 inches last year. San Juan Capistrano and San Clemente both received a heavier fall, with nearly half an inch recorded.

Storm warnings were raised from Santa Barbara to San Diego as strong southwest winds lashed the coast. A promise of more rain tonight was given by the government weather bureau, which warned of gales at sea tonight. Further rain for tomorrow also was predicted, but the wind is expected to shift to the west, which would indicate clearing weather for Sunday.

High School Students Will Abandon 'Ghost City'

Test City will become Ghost City at Santa Ana High school tomorrow.

The 22 tents which have housed the high school students since demolition of the earthquake-damaged buildings will be empty of life tomorrow, when they are abandoned and preparations are made to move into another modern new building.

Block "B," which was accepted by the board of education after final inspection Wednesday afternoon, will be ready for occupancy tomorrow. The $95,000 structure will house the music and domestic science classes in its 12 rooms.

Bear Returns Lost Purse

YOSEMITE. (AP)—An honest bear returned a lost purse which he dug up from the snow.

The purse, lost some time ago, contained a chocolate bar and the bear smelled it.

Picking the purse up in his mouth, the bear then dropped it at the feet of surprised visitors. He was offered a box of cookies as a reward but sauntered off without accepting it.

New electric and gas stoves are installed in the domestic science rooms, where modern fixtures and every convenience should make model cooks out of high school lasses.

Final inspection of the new shop building will be made next week, it was anticipated by Business Manager George Newcom. A real job faces the school authorities in moving the heavy machinery from the old shop building to the new one, which also will also house the paint shop. The building, with the new tunnels, walks, curbs and drives, cost $105,000.

Monday night the school board will hold an adjourned session to open bids on the high school landscaping project.

3000 Reindeer Save Eskimos

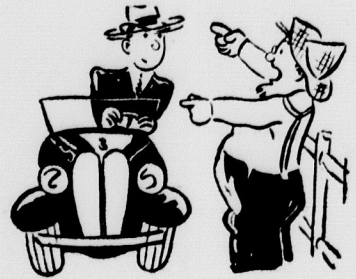

JUNEAU, Alaska. (AP)—Three thousand reindeer, driven more than 350 miles eastward along the Arctic rim to Barter island, saved hundreds of Eskimos from starvation, the Indian bureau has reported.

The bureau said many Eskimos are still in dire straits, being without ammunition, dogs and caribou meat. Few seal have been killed during the winter and no furs have been taken.

Public Utility Ownership Backed

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Approval of public ownership of utilities was contained in a report of a special senate committee which conducted a statewide investigation during the last two years, made to the house yesterday.

Feasibility of operation of utilities by counties, cities and districts of the state was unqualifiedly given in the report filed by Senator Jerrold Seawell, Roseville, as chairman.

JAYSEE NEWSPAPER TAKES SECOND PLACE IN NATIONAL CONTEST

AWARD GIVEN EL DON AT COLUMBIA

Competes With 959
Other Publications
To Win Honor

More honors were conferred on Santa Ana Junior college's El Don today.

The school paper, always rated highly in competition, was named second best in the judging of school newspapers. First place went to Los Angeles Junior college.

The awards were made in the annual contest of the Columbia Scholastic Press association, now in session at Columbia university, New York.

Nine hundred and fifty-nine newspapers and magazines, representing secondary and elementary schools in 47 states, were entered. It is the first time the jaysee newspaper has entered the Columbia contest, although it has competed in a number of other contests.

Bob Swanson is editor of El Don.

FINISH CHURCH NIGHT SERIES

With the Rev. Dr. George A. Warner delivering the closing address, the Church College Nights of the First Methodist Episcopal church ended last night. Approximately 400 heard Dr. Warner talk on "Principles of the New Testament."

The series just ended was the 15th held by the church during pre-Easter seasons.

General courses this year were handled by Dr. J. Hastie Odgers of the Rock River conference; Mrs. Muriel White of the speakers' bureau, department of adult education; the Rev. George A. Warner, jr., minister of Calvary Methodist church, Los Angeles; Mrs. Jennie Tessimann of Santa Ana Junior college; Mrs. Helen McArthur, teachers' training superintendent of the Santa Ana church, and the Rev. W. I. Lowe, minister of the Costa Mesa Methodist church.

Trailer Fad Hits Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska. (AP)—America's trailer epidemic has reached Alaska, even though the only place they can be driven are to nearby Matanuska valley and over the mountains into the Willow creek region.

The first trailer, which arrived here Wednesday, was eyed by hundreds of curious persons who wanted to see the queer contrivance about which they had read much, but which they never had seen.

An Anchorage dealer said he expects to sell many of them to families who go into the wilderness for holidays.

I COVER THE CAPITOL

By SENATOR HARRY C. WESTOVER

The following is one of a series of weekly articles written by Orange county's senator, Harry C. Westover, covering activities of the state legislature at Sacramento. Opinions and comment expressed in this column are not necessarily those of The Journal.—Editor's note.

As predicted in these columns last week, the highlight of the first week of the March session of the legislature was the debate on the supreme court. Although the republican members of the legislature insisted that it was not a partisan issue, nevertheless it was decided along partisan lines in both the assembly and in the senate.

The assembly passed a resolution commending the President's proposal, 41 to 21. The senate condemned the proposal, 24 to 14. The assembly debate became rather torrid at times, and when discussion arose as to a non-partisan legislature, Assemblyman Pat McMurray told the assembly that for 40 years the legislature had been non-partisan Republican, and that in the future the legislature was also going to be non-partisan—that is, Democratic.

Assemblyman Tommy Kuchel spoke in the assembly against the resolution endorsing the President's plan.

The matter was passed on in the senate upon a strictly partisan basis, with the exception of one Democratic senator who voted with the Republican majority, and one Republican senator who voted with the Democratic bloc.

Senator Keough of Bishop gave the classic argument of the debate. His argument in full was as follows:

"Mr. President and gentlemen of the senate:

"I have listened to the flow of oratory and big words with great interest. Some of the words were a bit difficult for me to understand, as they had to burn down the school to get me out of the fourth grade. However, I do know this: If, when you return to your homes and you want to be able to go to the postoffice and get your own mail, you had better vote 'no' on this resolution."

As the supreme court discussion was the highlight of the legislature during the first week in March, the highlight for the second week probably will be the resolution relative to the pardon of Tom Mooney. After trying vainly for many years to obtain his freedom through the courts, Tom Mooney has now turned to the legislature, asking that the legislature grant a full and complete pardon for him.

There is a large bloc of labor votes in the assembly and labor is expected to support the measure with its entire strength. It is said around the capital that the resolution may pass in the assembly, but probably will be defeated in the more conservative senate. This is the first time in the history of the state where the legislature has been called upon to grant a pardon after a pardon has been denied by the governor and the courts have refused relief.

One of the favorite pastimes of the legislature seems to be the adjustment of salaries of judges of the supreme courts of the various counties of the state. At the present time there are now measures before the senate to increase the salary of judges of the Sacramento superior court from $6750 to $7500; of the King county superior court from $5000 to $6000; of the San Diego superior court $6750 to $7500; of the Orange county superior court $6500 to $7000; of the Sonoma county superior court $6500 to $7500; of the Humboldt county superior court $6000 to $7000; San Mateo $6000 to $8000; and of the Sonoma superior court $6000 to $7500.

A bill has been introduced in the senate to reduce the number of superior judges in Santa Barbara county from two to one.

It seems to be the consensus of the members of the legislature that before salaries of the judges of the superior court are increased that such increase should be endorsed by the grand jury and by the board of supervisors. (In Orange county the supervisors have opposed the increase.—Editor.)

Sacramento entertained the Orange county delegation during the January session by putting on a real display of winter weather. For March the Orange county delegation, or at least the wives of the delegation, were entertained with a fire in the Sacramento hotel. Mrs. Clyde Watson and Mrs. Westover and son, Harry Equen, were forced to flee the hotel during the past week because of fire in the basement. Elevators were not running and they left the hotel in a hurry by running down five flights of stairs. No damage was done but at the time the hotel was evacuated there was so much smoke that it was feared that there might be serious damage or injury.

During the past week the committees of the legislature commenced their work. The assembly is not meeting until 2 o'clock in the afternoon so that committee meetings may be held in the mornings. The senate, on the other hand, is meeting in the morning and usually adjourns early in the afternoon. Most of the committees have organized and have commenced study and consideration of the bills before them.

The budget is now being considered by the committees in both the assembly and the senate and at the present time it seems that the fight over the budget is the only thing which will postpone an early adjournment of the legislature.

During the past week various leaders of the assembly and senate have expressed the hope that the legislature will adjourn by May 1. Inasmuch as it costs the state of California approximately $5000 per day to run the legislature an early adjournment is desired.

Many of the members of the legislature still remember the 1935 session when they served the legislature without pay. The members of the legislature receive pay only for the first 100 days and after that receive no additional compensation. Consequently, many members of the legislature are loath to serve longer than 100 days.

During the past week several Orange county residents have visited the legislature, among whom was George Wells, president of the board of education of the Santa Ana schools, and Colonel Wellington, who was attending a convention in Sacramento.

SPEECH CLUB SEATS NEW OFFICERS

Toastmasters Listen to Six Addresses at Club Session

Ferris Scott became president of El Camino Toastmasters club last evening, being formally installed in office by Past President Ernest Wooster as successor to W. H. (Ted) Blanding. Other new officers are W. F. Croddy, vice president; T. D. (Ted) MacBird, secretary; Philip Hood, treasurer, and Dr. C. J. Ruley, sergeant-at-arms. MacBird succeeds himself in office. The term of office is six months.

Toastmaster of the evening was W. F. Croddy, whose six speakers developed more than the usual amount of humor. E. M. Sundquist, first speaker, told of various subjects which he might have used, but did not develop any of them. Braden Finch told of 8000 foreigners illegally in Orange county, giving his talk in newspaper style.

Dale Griggs devoted his six minutes to a discussion of the problems and jobs of home gardening. Malcolm Macurda gave an informative talk on a new method of laying telephone wires by plowing them into the ground instead of placing them on poles, which he said was very much more economical. Nolan Doss gave a patriotic talk, dwelling on the methods used by Communists to make converts, finishing with an appeal to Americanism, and Ralph Raitt told of the struggles and achievements of Louis Pasteur.

Critics were Ferris Scott for Sundquist, Fred McCandless for Finch, Ernest Wooster for Griggs, Glenn Tibball for Doss, Joe Danilger for Macurda, William Fernandez for Raitt. General critic was Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth.

During the past week several Orange county residents have visited the legislature, among whom was George Wells, president of the board of education of the Santa Ana schools, and Colonel Wellington, who was attending a convention in Sacramento.

SHEPPARD ON NEW HOUSE COMMITTEE

Fills Stubbs Vacancy
On Irrigation and Reclamation Body

Congressman Harry Sheppard of this district is going to be in a position to do some good for the Orange county water conservation program if he wants to.

He was named yesterday to the committee of irrigation and reclamation, an Associated Press dispatch said.

Sheppard will fill the committee vacancy caused by the death of Representative Henry E. Stubbs of Santa Maria.

Garlic, Onions Keeps Man Alive

PLACERVILLE. (AP)—Frank Coster has a recipe for longevity, but his users won't be popular at kissing games.

His advice is to eat frequently and fully of garlic and onions. He gives these odoriferous vegetables credit for his 101 years, as well as for the ripe old age reached by his father, now dead.

"Pop ate onions and garlic all the time," Coster said, and died at the age of 127.

Fair Board Names Hollywood Man

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—The State Fair board named Robert Muchler, 47, of Hollywood, as its secretary-manager.

Muchler formerly was secretary to A. T. Jergins, head of a California trust company and one of Southern California's biggest oil men.

Firm Thrives on Labor Trouble

W. Sherman Burns (right), treasurer of the Burns Detective Agency, told a senate committee that his firm thrives on labor trouble "just like a doctor profits from sickness." He said furnishing labor spies and factory guards was "the most lucrative part" of the business. Raymond J. Burns (left) is president of the agency. (Associated Press Photo)

TREASURY IS PILING UP FUNDS

Hard Times for State on Way Out, Riley Report Shows

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Hard times appear to be over for the state's once-depleted treasury, Controller Harry B. Riley announced today.

Riley disclosed revenue for the general fund exceeded $102,000,000 in the eight months ending Feb. 28. This is more than a 20 per cent increase over the amount turned into the fund in the like period a year ago.

The controller said the increase is due chiefly to the sales tax. Its revenues went up $10,400,000. The income tax rose $5,200,000. Liquor licenses and taxes netted $3,700,000 more; the inheritance tax $700,000 more.

The income tax took effect only in 1935 and there were only minor collections through February, 1936, since the deadline for payment was not reached until April, consequently the total for the two periods are not comparable or subject to accurate analysis.

Sales tax collections for this fiscal year now total $62,710,266 as against $52,323,565 in 1936. Riley estimates there will be enough money in the general fund in May to call $10,000,000 in registered warrants.

One Hundred Dolls Move in for Six-Week Stay at Bowers Memorial Museum

All Nations Represented In Exhibit

One Hundred Thirty Year Old Dolls Place in Show

By DR. MARY E. WRIGHT
Bowers Museum has been transformed into a veritable toyland for a six-week period during which it is to house a collection of 100 dolls of many lands and many histories, loaned to the museum by three Los Angeles women.

Opening yesterday, the new exhibit, for which Mrs. F. E. Coulter, the curator, has prepared beautiful and appropriate settings, has already been visited by several groups of school children and adults who are finding in these dolls and their stories delight for both eyes and minds.

Greater part of the collection belongs to Miss Jean Gould, of Los Angeles, and the other two women of that city joining her in the interesting loan collection are Miss Katherine Walbridge, who made and dressed the kelp dolls, and Miss Elizabeth Hartley.

In addition, there is one doll in the exhibit which was sent by Mrs. Otis Birch of Pasadena, for whose father Birch park was named, a Japanese doll made by women in Japan; and also dolls loaned by Miss Lulu Minter and Miss Annette McClintock of Santa Ana.

Big, Little, Old Dolls
One interesting case incloses the largest, the smallest, and the oldest dolls in the collection, as well as a distinctly English doll, a miniature David Copperfield in a genuine Dickens costume. The big doll, 40 inches tall, has a Dresden china head and flowing robes of silk, while her very small partner in the case is but one-half inch in length, carved of wood and standing on a wooden doll chair. The very old doll is 130 years of age.

For each distinctive group, Mrs. Coulter has designed and carried out backgrounds against which the dolls are shown to great advantage.

For the little visitors from India, she has made a scene of the Taj Mahal; for the Japanese, Mount Fujiyama; palms and blue seas for the little people from tropical lands, and ice and snow-laden firs for the representatives from northern countries.

In this arctic setting is an Alaskan doll dressed in real reindeer fur, which is attracting much attention from young visitors.

Dolls of All Nations
The whole world is represented in the collection—German fraus with yellow braids and sabots; Spanish señoritas; veiled ladies of Egypt and Palestine, with a camel in the foreground of their picture; Mexican peons and burros, Dutch peasants, French peasants with the tricolor in hand, Scandinavians with characteristic costumes, two old Normandy peasants seated on a finely carved Norman bench.

Dolls of china, bisque, stockings, kelp, corn husks, carved composition dolls of just every variety. One of the loveliest cases,

CARDIGAN SPELLS SPRING CHIC

Contrast in jacket and skirt is one of the spring's favorite fashion notes. This suit combines a black wool belted jacket, having the new high closing, with a skirt of black, red and white checked wool flannel, tucked to simulate an umbrella's seams. It is worn with a white Ascot scarf and a straw Breton hat faced with black patent leather, designed by Howard Hodge.

though not the most unique, was the colonial American, representing a typical room of an early day home, with fireplace, crane, and tiny kettle; miniature ancestral portrait above the mantelpiece, tiny spinning wheel, cradle, and dolls in Puritan costumes.

Invitations to visit this worthwhile collection during its six-week stay have been issued to all the schools of the county, so that all the children may have an opportunity to view the exhibit. Mrs. Amanda Holmes of the local doll hospital has also received a special invitation.

AMISTAD CLUB HAS LUNCHEON AT SEASHORE

When Mrs. John McAuley entertained members of the Amistad club yesterday, she planned a delightful surprise for them, taking them for luncheon over to the sea food grotto at Belmont Shores and then back to her home on North Broadway for the afternoon.

Enjoying the drive in the spring sunshine and the hours of social chat following were Mrs. C. E. Bressler, Mrs. Emily Munro, Mrs. G. E. Bruns and her daughter, Mrs. Dick Cribaro, Mrs. Clarence Bond, Mrs. Rose Havley, Mrs. Ira Kroese, Mrs. Frank Wals, Mrs. G. W. Bond, Mrs. C. C. Fuller, and the hostess.

WOMAN'S CLUB SECTIONS MEET

Three section meetings were enjoyed by members of the Santa Ana Woman's club on Tuesday and Wednesday.

On Tuesday morning, poetry section members gathered in the home of Mrs. W. H. Kuhn on North Artesia, reading poems on spring subjects and each also contributing an original couplet.

Philanthropy section met in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. O. Ahern, with 10 members participating in several hours of sewing and chat. Plans were discussed for the section picnic in May, and light refreshments were served at the close.

Fifteen members worked on home craft in another section meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. M. Waycott, 415 West Washington, gathering for a pot-luck luncheon which was served at card tables centered with spring flowers. Next meeting of this group will be at the home of Mrs. Fern Tarbox, it was announced.

TWO INITIATED INTO BETHEL WITH CEREMONY

Miss Grace Knipe and Miss Phyllis Bemis were formally initiated into Santa Ana Bethel of Jof's Daughters at a meeting of that group conducted Wednesday evening by Miss Charlotte McCausland, honored guest.

A special guest was Mrs. Ada Lavender of Long Beach, deputy grand guardian who was making her official visit, and who complimented the Bethel very highly on the exemplification of its work. She was later presented with a pretty gift by the Bethel.

Escort honors and formal introduction were accorded Mrs. Anne Harbaugh, deputy grand guardian of Long Beach, and E. Tilton, assistant, guardian there, and an honor pin was awarded to Miss Natalie Ely.

Several important announcements regarding future activities were made, including one of a slating party after a meeting March 24, formal exemplification of the Bethel's work for Lodge No. 241 at the local Masonic temple on March 26, and a joint meeting with Anaheim and Fullerton on April 5, at which time Mrs. Sadie Cheroski, grand guardian of California, will pay her official visit.

At the conclusion of the evening refreshments appropriate to the St. Patrick day motif used to decorate the banquet room tables, were served by the Misses Betty Hartman, Esther Belle Christian, Reulah Cady, Eileen Gibbs, and Eunice Filer. One table was particularly decorated in honor of those whose birthday anniversaries occur in March, and these included the Misses Marjorie McCune, Betty Jean Reed, Persis Davis, Eunice Filer, Virginia Marlow, and Betty Hartman.

DINNER MARKS BIRTHDAY

Members of the family gathered last night at the I. A. Wright home at 1008 Highland avenue to join in celebrating the birthday anniversary of Mr. Wright at a dinner planned in honor of the occasion by his wife.

Places at the pretty birthday table were marked for Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Townsend of Santa Ana and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Busch, sons-in-law and daughters of the hosts. Paul Wright, a son, and Mr. and Mrs. Wright, a birthday cake graced the table at the dessert course.

Mrs. Arthur Smith and Mrs. Albert Thorman won high and second high prizes in the bridge games following, and Mrs. George Gaylord invited the group to meet next at her home.

All the members were present, including, besides the two prize-winners, Mrs. Robert Korff, Mrs. Gaylord, Mrs. Vincent Humiston, Mrs. W. S. Leinberger, Miss Marjorie Rawlings, and the hostess.

FRANKLIN P.T.A. TUESDAY

Mrs. Mabel Spizky, county schools director of music, will speak on "Children and Radio" when she addresses Franklin Parent-Teacher association at its meeting at 2:30 p. m. next Tuesday, and the first graders will give a class demonstration. First grade mothers will serve refreshments at the close.

Executive board members are to meet at 1:30 o'clock, preceding the general meeting, all officers and grade mothers being expected at that session.

Old Friends Sigma Theta Entertains Call Upon Dr. Boyd Guests

Close to half a century of residence in one city nets a man a host of friends, and that period spent in Santa Ana, where he was a respected and beloved member of his community, won for Dr. James P. Boyd an ever-widening circle of people who call him friend.

Dr. Boyd was Santa Ana's only doctor back in the early days, and in this capacity, as well as in his role of citizen and neighbor, he won and held the esteem of many.

Yesterday, on the occasion of his eighty-third birthday anniversary, some sixty-five of these old friends called at his Laguna Beach home to congratulate him and to have a cup of tea with him in memory of those early days.

His sister, Miss Rosa Boyd, who makes her home with him at the beach, joined him in receiving their guests, wearing a lovely cut velvet gown of royal blue, with a short train.

The living room and dining room were bright with the many lovely bouquets of flowers sent in honor of the birthday, yellow predominating in those chosen to center the lovely tea table at which Mrs. Braden Finch of Panorama Heights, a cousin of the honored guest, presided.

In colorful contrast to the lace tea cloth were the jonquils and violets which formed the centerpiece in a crystal bowl and the yellow candles which were lighted for the tea hours.

Mrs. Bradford Hellis, another cousin, also of Panorama Heights, Mrs. Roy Browning of Tustin, and Mrs. Murray Stephenson of Santa Ana assisted in serving and greeting the guests.

At least four of the guests calling during the afternoon shared in the birthday honors, celebrating their own anniversaries during the same week with Dr. Boyd. These were T. E. Stephenson, Mrs. J. C. Utter, and Mrs. Clarence Crookshank, all of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Jack Porter, a former Santa Ana, now living at Laguna Beach.

Birthday cakes, flowers, greeting cards, and gifts were showered upon the guest of honor by those who called and others who were unable to bring their congratulations in person.

One birthday cake, with a single lighted candle, graced the tea table, where ices, cake and coffee were served during the afternoon.

STOCKINGS ARE STANDARDIZED

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Mildred's problem of making her stockings meet her garters appeared today to be headed toward quick oblivion.

Uniting on this vexing issue, the government and the hosiery trade have decided on a silken leg standard for future hose.

This doesn't mean the stockings makers have turned their backs on the extra-short and extra-long legged women. The production of special models will continue.

But when an average-sized woman just asks for "stockings," she won't come home with a silken something ranging from socks to hose that resemble wading boots.

The standard idea didn't start with the government but with the hosiery industry, which decided to take the strain off stocking and garter.

Asked to participate in nationalizing the plan, the bureau of standards went in as a sort of friendly co-ordinator, taking this view of forthcoming hose barker: "Unless mentioned in the order, it is understood that the seller will supply standard lengths and thus put an end to the former practice of a few manufacturers who furnished the shortest lengths except when the retailer ordered something else."

In working out the standard for "full fashioned and circular knit (seamless)," the experts did not use filled stockings, but empty ones.

The magic length is 30 inches from the lower end of the heel to garter anchorage.

Mrs. Ernest Byrne entertained her bridge club Tuesday at a 1 o'clock luncheon at Mrs. Eustis' cafe in Tustin, choosing the St. Patrick motif for appointments at the luncheon table. Centerpiece was a low green bowl of China lilies.

Mrs. Arthur Smith and Mrs. Albert Thorman won high and second high prizes in the bridge games following, and Mrs. George Gaylord invited the group to meet next at her home.

All the members were present, including, besides the two prize-winners, Mrs. Robert Korff, Mrs. Gaylord, Mrs. Vincent Humiston, Mrs. W. S. Leinberger, Miss Marjorie Rawlings, and the hostess.

Miss Valerie Demetrio, one of the newer members of Sigma Theta sorority, assisted by Miss Betty Campbell, another recent addition to the sorority roster, entertained the chapter members and guests Wednesday night at her home on East Fourth street.

Bridge games followed the business session, Miss Roberta McKnight winning high prize and Miss Dorothy Van Deusen, second, and refreshments were served at the close of the evening. The St. Patrick motif prevailing in the appointments.

Guests at the party were Miss Erlene Farmer, Miss Lois Murray and Miss Dorothy Van Deusen, and the members present were the Mesdames George Preble, Joe Irwin, Walter Melott, Van Pomeroy, Al Helm, and the Misses Betty Wiswall, Ruth Baker, Virginia Curry, Joan Baker, Roberta McKnight, Janice and Gladys Margueret, Margaret Thomas, Winifred Skeels, Dee Pettit, Helen LeGates, Margaret Guard, Helen Andrews, and the pledge, Miss Alma McClain.

TUSTIN P.T.A. WILL MEET MARCH 18

March 18 is the date of the next meeting of Tustin Union High School Parent-Teacher association, which was moved ahead a week because of the spring vacation, and topic for discussion that day will be "Training for Home, Social, and Civic Responsibility."

Miss Florence Lindholm, home economics teacher at the school, will take up the home phase, Mrs. G. B. Wilbur, the social responsibility, and Ransler Baker, a member of the board, the civic responsibility.

Miss Mary McVey is arranging a musical program, and Mrs. L. A. Riehl is chairman of the hostess committee arranging for the social hour.

Plans are under way to be held March 23 at the C. E. Utter home.

S. E. A. WOMEN ENJOY MEETING

The newly organized S. E. A. Women's club had an enjoyable meeting when its members were entertained with a pretty St. Patrick's dessert course in the home of Mrs. Clarence Sackerson, 1701 South Van Ness street, and spent the remainder of the day playing bridge.

At the close of the card session Mrs. Sackerson and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Ray T. Brown, Mrs. A. B. Mueller, and Mrs. M. W. Ball awarded an attractive high score prize to Mrs. O. K. Suttiff, a traveling prize to Mrs. Andrew Nelson; low score prize to Mrs. Harold Farmer, and a door prize to Mrs. J. F. McNeese.

The club will meet again on the second Wednesday in April, at the home of Mrs. H. T. Menzies, 1716 West Seventeenth street. Members are to bring "white elephants" with them, Mrs. M. W. Ball, the chairman, announced.

Members present yesterday were the Mesdames R. A. Weaver, G. W. Serr, C. A. Nelson, O. W. Suttiff, F. C. Campbell, J. F. McNeese, H. S. Wright, R. T. Brown, Harold Farmer, A. C. W. Stokes, H. T. Menzies, D. H. Campbell, G. E. Davidson, E. A. B. Smith, P. G. Kourne, Leslie Herron, and Glenn Trammell, M. E. Brown, and the hostesses.

WILSON SCHOOL TEACHERS FETED

Executive board members of Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association entertained the teachers of the school Wednesday night at a theater party, taking them to the Broadway theater to see and hear Grace Moore and then to the home of Mrs. Clifford Cole, 1314 North W. 14th, for games and refreshments.

Teachers honored at the informal affair were the Misses Berthie Barclay, Frances Corson, Sophie Hopland, Bonnie Kiser, Lillian McDonald, and Florence Messamer, and Mrs. Evelyn Hlanding.

Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Thompson, the president, and the Mesdames Clifford Cole, Harry Becker, Carl Edgar, Marcus Lassiter, Winifred Russell, J. C. Francis, R. A. Weisberger, Stanley Main, Forrest White, Frank Andrews, Don Hillyard, and Clyde Patton.

Mrs. Ernest Byrne entertained her bridge club Tuesday at a 1 o'clock luncheon at Mrs. Eustis' cafe in Tustin, choosing the St. Patrick motif for appointments at the luncheon table. Centerpiece was a low green bowl of China lilies.

Mrs. Arthur Smith and Mrs. Albert Thorman won high and second high prizes in the bridge games following, and Mrs. George Gaylord invited the group to meet next at her home.

MARY STODDARD Widow Wonders Whether She Will Ever Fall in Love a Second Time

It is indeed a perplexing problem to the average kindly, intelligent homemaker who finds herself in early middle age a widow, particularly if she has children who need a father's care. She cannot feel that her own personal life is over. She naturally wants affection and fun and happiness as much as she wants a provider and a companion. There have been several letters in this same vein during the past few weeks. I would appreciate the thoughts of our readers on the subject of remarriage.

Here is her letter:
Dear Miss Stoddard: Is there such a thing as falling in love a second time? I have been a widow for two years. My husband was wonderful to us. I have two sons, 9 and 13. They would like a father so much. I have met some very fine men and just wonder—will I ever fall in love again, or is just deep respect and companionship enough to try again? Thank you. PERPLEXED.

I fear, "Perplexed," you are placing too much faith in us as mind readers. Time is the only solution to your question, which means that you might fall in love again and you might not. There are perhaps as many different degrees of the love as there are personalities. Respect and companionship are mighty fine aids to love and deep affection, if not actual love might spring from them.

Unless you meet a man you feel you could fall in love with, you shouldn't marry just with the idea of giving your boys a father, though. You must bear in mind that in a few years they will be young men and will start out in life for themselves. Then if you should be wed to a man you didn't care for, you'd be far worse off than you are now.

BIRTHDAYS AND ANNIVERSARIES CELEBRATED

When Mrs. Guy T. Maties entertained at dinner last evening, in her home at 1249 South Van Ness street, she was honoring five anniversaries.

The party was planned primarily in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Maties, husband of the hostess, and James Sims, one of the guests, both yesterday; but also served to mark that of Mrs. Sims', which is today, and the wedding anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. Sims and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bowman, which are both today.

Others in the group, besides the three couples, were Don and Carolyn Maties, and James and Shirley Joan Sims.

Second Travel Monday
Second Travel section will meet Monday morning with a luncheon at 12:30 p. m. in the Elbell clubhouse. Hostesses will be Mrs. E. C. Frandson, Mrs. Mae Thompson, and Mrs. H. A. Wassum, and those who will bring guests are asked to call Mrs. Wassum.

Mrs. Halsell Is Hostess Today

Mrs. Oliver Halsell was hostess for her needlework club this afternoon, the members gathering for sewing and chat in her home at 2216 North Broadway, which was bright with flowers of early spring.

For the salad course which the hostess had arranged for her guests, the friends were seated at one table in the dining room. Here, quince and peach blossoms in a low bowl formed a pretty piece for the center of the Venetian cloth, flanked on either side by tapers which carried out the same rose tones of the flowers. Jonquils and purple iris formed bouquets for the living room, some of the lovely flowers coming from Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth.

Members present today were Mesdames O. H. Barr, Alex Brownridge, H. J. Forgy, Helen Heil, Joe Metzger, C. F. Skirvin, Harry Spencer, E. B. Sprague, Terry Stephenson, L. A. West, F. W. Wieseman, W. B. Williams, J. Dick Wilson, and the hostess; and guests invited to join them were Mrs. Charles Druiett, Mrs. Charles Nalle, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, and the latter's sister, Mrs. Mary Thompson of Garden Grove.

GOLDEN STATE R. N. A. TO MARK BIRTHDAY
Mrs. Lenora Fletcher, district deputy, and her husband, Bert Fletcher, of Long Beach, and Mrs. Ethel Gross, vice-president, and Mrs. Grace Gross, musician, of Magnolia camp, Royal Neighbors of America, visited Golden State camp's meeting Wednesday night in the K. of C. hall, Mrs. Ethel Gross extending the members an invitation to the district meeting of March 22 at which Magnolia camp will be hostess. The meeting will be held in the M. W. A. hall.

Golden State camp will entertain the district in the K. of C. hall on April 28, choosing Holladay as the theme for that night. Plans were also announced for the 42nd anniversary party of Golden State camp, to be in the form of a pot-luck dinner at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, March 24, in the hall, and open to friends and prospective members. Mrs. Enola Morse is chairman of the committee, with Mrs. Flora Dolben, Mrs. Pearl Garr, and Jake Garr assisting.

Mrs. Iva Stephenson was presented with a 25-year membership pin at the meeting, and Mrs. Lena Chapman was welcomed into membership by transfer from Bennington, Kans. Mrs. Stephenson led 10 of the members in a kitchen band program. Refreshments carrying out the St. Patrick motif were served at the close of the evening.

R. N. A. BOOSTERS
Boosters club of the Royal Neighbors of America will meet for a 12:30 o'clock pot-luck luncheon on March 19 at the home of Mrs. Hart Pennington, 510 East Myrtle street.

Position of Stomach Now Known

By CLAUD CHRISMAN, M. D.

Falling stomach is a rather colloquial term but the condition indicated means certain things. A great deal of stress has been placed by some physicians in the last few years, on "gastroptosis," or "falling of the stomach."

The perfection of the fluoroscope by which we could see the shape of the abdominal contents, with the person in the upright as well as in the prone position, changed our knowledge of their shape and particularly of their position quite decidedly.

Before that time, these had only been seen with the patient in the prone position and the stomach was thought to have an outline somewhat like a bapine bag and to be altogether in the upper abdomen, extending down slightly below the umbilicus.

Now our view has been changed. The stomach is a very freely movable organ. The only fixed points are the upper opening where food enters and the lower opening where it empties into the duodenum. The large sac between these two points is freely adjustable and is capable of stretching and dilating in all directions.

There was no little surprise expressed when a well-filled stomach was found to form almost a straight, wide tube when the person was in the upright position, and to extend down to the crest of the hip bones, pulling the transverse colon and other contents with it.

Much stress was given at this time to the supposed dropping of the stomach. Now we know that position to be normal and it is only when it extends down into the pelvis that we consider it "dropped."

PET SHOW DRAWS ANIMALS OF MANY TYPES

Pets of all description, ranging all the way from goldfish and turtles to big police dogs, paraded for judging at the pet show sponsored by Hoover Parent-Teacher association, and many went home with ribbons and prizes.

The judges were Mrs. Robert Horn, Miss Vanche Plumb, and Miss Esther Jean Davis. Pets were picked for size, cleverness, pedigree, funny appearance, and many other classifications after they had marched in review and done their stunts in the center ring.

The A. C. Honer's pony played an important part in the festivities, children buying rides during the afternoon and the pony leading the pets in parade.

Ice cream and candy were also on sale, proceeds from the entire affair going into the P. T. A. treasury for welfare work.

The budget and finance committee was in charge of the show, with Mrs. H. J. Howard as general chairman and Mrs. C. F. Leithoff and Mrs. W. K. Hilyard assisting.

STAG PARTY MARKS 18TH BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Catherine of 429 South Broadway planned a real surprise for their son, Frank, when he was celebrating his eighteenth birthday on Wednesday.

Expecting his family to gather for the evening celebration of the anniversary, Mr. Catherine had a real surprise when he found that five of his junior college friends had been invited for a fried chicken dinner and a strictly stag affair.

For the party, Mrs. Catherine had arranged a beautiful table with a bowl of rose-colored sweet peas and tall rose tapers. Bowls of daffodils added to the festive appearance in the other rooms.

The end of the menu brought a fine birthday cake with eighteen candles. Friends invited to share the good dinner were William Webb, La Verne Means, Franklin Guthrie, Drennan Ahern, and Donald Hart, the six attending a show as a part of the birthday treat after dinner.

TRIM WRAP-AROUND INVITES BUSY MORNINGS, SAYS MARIAN MARTIN

The Friday Afternoon

By DONALD BUTTON

That much-worked word "genius" somehow fits Millard Sheets best.

Whether it be water-color (for which he is best known), lithography, display-advertising, the cinema, or oils—they all "sing" for him.

It is that singing, or lyricism, I think, that attracts one so strongly to his water-color.

I'm willing to repeat often that I have never been so moved by the work of any living artist as I was upon seeing his recent water-color show at Scripps. It does things to you!

The contrast of light figure upon dark against a sombre landscape and gulls, the rhythm of goats running, the swoop of gulls, the drawing of figures from the earth—no one else does it so effectively save my favorite Scotchman.

Despite this outpouring of genius upon water color, the man turns to other things with just as much power and brilliance.

He is designing the sets for Universal's "Hippodrome," one of those super-gigantic-colossal things the rival movie producers have to offer.

He headed the group setting a new display-advertising high in their work for Houbigant, the perfumer.

As head of the Fine Arts foundation at Scripps college, he has brought teachers and facilities together for an unusually fine type of "art training." Work of his own students indicates the high standards set.

Millard Sheets is artist become business man. That is genius! Jose Martinez brings his piercing portraits of the Mexican to Scripps college this week.

Martinez, about 70, works from 8 in the morning to 3 the next takes time out only for meals. He is a one-man factory.

Began his drawing when still too poor to buy paper, so used "classifieds" for the first ones.

He works large, yet gives splendid detail. Every work shown is worth your careful inspection.

Artistic enterprise in Santa Ana is often marked by the participation of the Shafer family. Don Blanding refers to Mina Shafer as "the woman who had to wait until she was 60 before she could write" yet her work appears frequently in the better anthologies and verse magazines.

Most people know Gladys Simpson Shafer as the director of the Community Players.

But Burr Shafer is the most active of the three. Active in

Wide Variety Of Soups Pleases All

By JUDITH WILSON

Lots of good things start with soup, the clear, strong bouillons that stimulate the appetite for the company dinner or the thin, delicately flavored cream soups that are light but nourishing. Then there are thick, rich soups that wit a salad, dessert and beverage, made a satisfying meal for the family on winter evenings and savory vegetable soups and chowders which make hungry school children beg for second helpings.

The old soup kettle is a thing of the past, however. Good soups can be made so easily and quickly with the aid of canned soup stock and other canned foods that unless you just happen to have a good supply of beef bones and vegetable scraps on hand, you will really save time and fuel by making use of them.

Company Soup

This is delicious and can be combined in a jiffy. Simply open 1 can mushroom soup and 1 can chicken soup. Combine in a double boiler with 1/2 teaspoon salt and a few grains pepper. Heat thoroughly and serve in cream soup cups. Whip 1-3 cup heavy cream until stiff and fold in 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish and float a spoonful of each cup of soup.

TUSTIN HOME DEPARTMENT IN MEETING

Home department of the Tustin Farm Center heard about "Basic Dress and Accessories" when it met this week at the home of Mrs. A. M. Robertson at 430 West Main street, Tustin. Miss Frances Liles, home director, conducted the discussion and showing samples of spring materials and patterns of accessories. Mrs. George Veeh and Mrs. J. H. Ebersole, project leaders, assisted Miss Liles.

After a pot-luck luncheon at noon, Mrs. Guy Christian presided over a business session and the next meeting was announced for April 13 at the home of Mrs. Roy Rannels, with Mrs. Charles Whitney and Mrs. Sam Stanley as co-hostesses.

Present were the Mesdames Gaston D. Griset, Charles Griset, L. R. Stearns, Roy Rannels, Charles Whitney, William Hazen, Frank Jones, Fred Wilson, John Dunstan, Sam Stanley, Raymond Prothro, George Veeh, Frank Leonard, E. H. House, John Ebersole, and Bertha Flint; Miss Bertha Pilcher of Santa Ana, and Miss Elizabeth Robinson, daughter of the home.

CLUB MEETS AT SUTTON HOME

Lovely peach blossoms and deep-toned roses decorated the home of Mrs. Mildred Sutton on Oak street when she entertained the Martha Washington club Wednesday with a 1 o'clock luncheon.

Besides these colorful decorations she had numerous little bunnies and chickens and colored eggs to decorate her luncheon table, around which were seated the Mesdames Bess McDonald, Millie West, Ruth Zabel, Inez Baker, Stella Henderson, Mae Jackson, Florence Sunnyside, Pauline Decker, Elizabeth Jernigan, Mamie Zimmerman, and Hattie Peters.

Garden Secrets

By Willis Cadwallader of Blanding Nurseries

The group of trees referred to as "weeping" trees are those that are drooping in their habit of growth. In a great many instances it is only the branches that have this tendency.

Weeping trees are very good material for the landscape setting, yet care must be exercised not to overdo the use. They stand out and dominate the setting as no other tree can. This point should be born in mind and care be taken in planting so as not to overdo the use of this picturesque material.

Usually it is not good to plant more than one large tree, but several smaller ones might possibly be used. The smaller material will not compete as a dominating feature. Grouping must be guarded against as the weeping characteristics are so apparent that they overbalance all other differences of foliage, color and texture.

The use of these trees on a hillside or against a steep-sloping roof is a most pleasing, incorporating the downward tendency of the foliage with the slope of roof or hillside. The weeping trees,

Now Is Time To Repel Moth Menace

A word of warning to home-makers is issued today with the coming of warm, sunny weather. Miss Frances Liles, home demonstration agent for Orange county, says that now is the time to store away winter clothing and household woollens, blankets and excess bedding—and most of all, to forestall the ravages of moths in our overstuffed furniture and clothes.

Her instructions follow:

Common clothes moth-millers will soon be flying about trying to locate suitable places to lay their eggs. They prefer dark places and are often seen flying about in the shadows of the room. They are frightened when clothing or other objects are suddenly moved and may be seen running rapidly or flying to conceal themselves in the creases of clothing, cracks, or other dark places. They are buff colored and have about one-half inch spread of wings. The millers have imperfectly shaped mouth and could not feed upon fabrics if they so desired. Their only purpose is to lay eggs that develop into the worms or larvae which alone can cause destruction. Therefore every moth killed now helps to prevent the eggs being laid in and around clothing and other objects subject to their attack.

The following remedies for killing moths and for protection against them have been thoroughly tested and are in general use by the public.

Be sure that all woollen articles to be stored during the summer months are clean. Moths will always eat the garment where there are food spots or general soil. Clothing can be dipped into a non-explosive cleaning solvent which kills both eggs and larvae. Place other articles in the sun and air and give a very thorough brushing.

Wrap all articles which have been brushed, aired and cleaned carefully in unbroken paper. Napthalene in flakes may be wrapped about the articles, which will kill any moth larvae which escapes the previous treatment.

For garments which are worn occasionally, a repellent spray, of which there are many on the market, may be used.

Because time for further details cannot be given at this time, a circular entitled "Clothes Moths and Their Control," published by the United States department of agriculture, may be obtained by phoning to Frances Liles, agricultural extension office in the courthouse square.

Take a tip and don't let the moths get you.

especially those of smaller type, have their widest range of opportunity for use in connection with rock-gardens and water gardens.

Weeping Trees

The weeping spruce (Picea Eschscholiana) is perhaps the best type growing to a height of approximately five feet, with horizontal branches drooping at the ends.

Sargent's hemlock (Tsuga Canadensis pendula) is a flat topped type growing to a height of approximately five feet, with horizontal branches drooping at the ends.

Among the evergreens that are weeping in habit are several species of the pine. These are not common, but quite worth while.

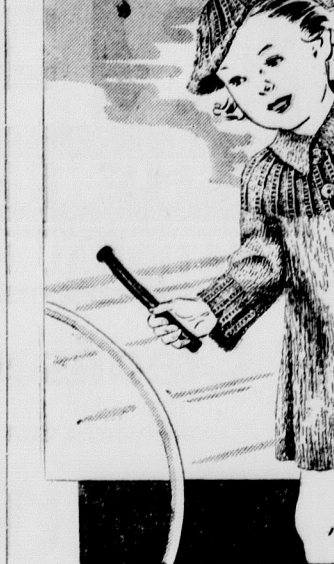

Those weepers that are better known to us are found among the deciduous type. The willows are first in importance, with the best known being the Babylon weeping willow (Salix Babylonica). It is a favorite for waterside planting. The Thurlow weeping willow (S. Elaeagnifolia) always retains its graceful appearance even though it attains a height of 50 feet.

There are several other smaller willows, too, each having its proper place to fill.

The weeping beech (Fagus Sylvatica pendula) is possibly the most impressive of all the weeping trees, and droops even while very young.

The Cutleafed weeping birch (Betula Alba Gracilis pendula) is a favorite lawn specimen, and the weeping mountain ash and weeping Japanese cherry are also recommended, but the best of all is Tea's weeping mulberry. It remains a small tree and will withstand any amount of pruning. This makes it possible to form any desired shape from the very conventional to weirdest of Japanese forms.

Coat And Tam Prove Easy-To-Knit

If you want her eyes to brighten with delight, knit her this adorable coat and tam of sports yarn. Any four-to-eight year old will love this ensemble. The coat is mainly plain knitting, with cuffs and yoke in knit-and-purl stitch. This combination of knitting and purling is repeated in the tam. In pattern 5545 you will find complete instructions for a knitted coat and tam, in sizes 4, 6 and 8 (all given in one pattern); illustrations of them and of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 E. Fifth St. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Supper Party Precedes Bridge

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

The first of two delightful bridge supper parties was given last night by Mrs. Don Mozley when she entertained 16 of her friends in her pretty home at 120 West 15th street.

All gathered around the one large dining-room table, attractively spread with lace cloth, spring flowers and colorful green tapers. A menu carrying out the shamrock-green was served with jellied salad, green rice and curry, and all sorts of other delicacies, and at the end of the enjoyable interlude Mrs. Mozley handed each guest an appropriate little St. Patrick's day tally card.

When these were added late in the evening it was found that Mrs. Roland Thompson of Balboa had won first prize, Mrs. Loren Moore, second, and Mrs. A. J. Garraway, low. They were presented with lovely gifts in vivid green wrappings, and Mrs. Bert Miles handed herself the ultimate winner of an equally attractive floating prize.

Mrs. Miles and Mrs. John Backus assisted Mrs. Mozley during the pleasant evening, which will be followed by another similar event tonight.

SEWING CLUB IN TUSTIN MEETING

Mrs. W. W. Tantling entertained Calumet Auxiliary sewing club members and husbands Wednesday at a supervised pot-luck luncheon in her home, on Newport road, in Tustin, Mrs. Jack Shaw, Mrs. Charles Graham, Mrs. H. Wassum and Mrs. Effie Hawley assisting as co-hostesses.

Bridge and sewing were enjoyed in the afternoon by the Messrs. B. Haskell, James W. Isbell, B. Deck, Earl Sillers, Charles Dixon, C. H. Lindquist, J. H. Shaw, C. W. Hannah, A. P. Dresser, Forrest Gay, H. C. Moberly, William Brown, Edward Patmore, and the Mesdames Bertha Helmer, Ruth Hess, Katherine Reagan, Lulu Chatlain, Elvira Kurtz, U. S. Glaze, Charles Winter, Rosa Bowers, Myrtle Brown, Elva Hunt, John H. Ebersole, Mary L. Mann, M. Mosher and Mary L. Cooper; Mrs. Della Schlosser of Sioux City, Iowa; Mrs. Beatrice Zabel and Fred Gundulsof of Riverside; Mrs. Marjorie Russell of Glendale, and the hostesses.

That Circle Number Three would act as decorating committee for the coming month at St. Peter's Lutheran church was announced at a meeting of the ladies' aid and missionary society of that church Wednesday afternoon. At the same time Mrs. Belle Bergsetter, the president, announced that she and Mrs. Christine Saccow would act as a special visiting committee this spring.

A letter from the secretary of the foreign mission board thanking the society for its donation to the support of an Indian girl was read, and the group voted to send a sizeable check to the Pacific Lutheran college at Parkland, Wash., as a part of a girls' dormitory endowment.

Devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Lydia Yettrick, and the missionary lesson and magazine quiz were in charge of Mrs. Henrietta Kraft. At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Clara Braun and Mrs. Clara Bayha served tea and wafers, and hostess duties for the next meeting were assigned to Mrs. Ella Finegan and Mrs. Etta Ericks.

MEET E. R. SCHNEIDER, RED AND WHITE GROCER

Here is a long affiliation with the Red and White organization. E. R. Schneider, of Garden Grove, has for 24 years been in business in the thriving little city to the north, and a member of the Red and White stores ever since it started. There could be no more convincing evidence offered of the satisfactory treatment customers receive than that fact that many of them are still trading with him. When you can build a clientele which remains loyal for almost a quarter of a century, well, to use common parlance, "you've got something."

Mr. Schneider's Garden Grove Red and White store is a popular and familiar business landmark in his home town. He has one of the finest grocery stocks in the county, a new air conditioned fruit and vegetable rack with a spraying system, and with the assistance of Hubert Head, Nelson Sprinkle and Lester Monnell is prepared to give prompt and satisfactory service, as the clerical force knows the merchandise thoroughly. Prompt delivery service is given in and contiguous to Garden Grove, so if you want your groceries quickly either phone or call at the store and if delivery is required that service will be prompt and with courtesy. Should you need anything in the hardware line Mr. Schneider can also supply your wants as he operates a large hardware department in the same building with the grocery, fruits and vegetables.

Mr. Schneider has leased the meat department to Walter Donovan, an experienced butcher who knows his meats and is prepared to serve you with the best cuts and grades. He has a modern market.

If you are touring Orange County stop at Mr. Schneider's and get acquainted with him and his store. He knows a lot of people. He would like to know more.

Willard Junior High News

The girls tennis ladder has been posted in the girls P. E. office. The playoffs were started Wednesday.

Those entered are Isabell Ralstabb, Betty Button, Anna Burk, Jean Withall, Beatrice Hewitt, Lucille Mendenhall, Frances Nall, Phyllis Bemis, Helen Tibbals, Marjorie Mize, Lucille Crawford, Carol Brinkerhoff, Virginia Finley, Lillian Breaux, Marieta Brown, Barbara Flower, Mary Lou Mann, Jean Conliffe, Geneva Sawyer, Hollis Tibbals, Barbara Preininger and Marion Kenyon.

'NANCY STEELE' IS HIT HERE

Given another opportunity to duplicate the acting job that won him the Academy award, Victor McLaglen, star of many hits, is starred in "Nancy Steele Is Missing," currently thrilling audiences at the West Coast theater. The story concerns the adventures of a man condemned to prison and given an unwarranted sentence because of the belief that he is a "proletarian." This takes place during the war hysteria in 1917. In prison he is the victim of his fellow convicts who frame him into a life sentence.

He is finally released after serving 20 years, only to be hounded by a former cellmate who suspects that he is harboring a great secret. Here the story picks up its gripping suspense with McLaglen as the ex-convict and Peter Lorre as his cellmate matching wits until the final fadeout. Walter Connolly plays the part of the father of Nancy Steele. June Lang has the title role, with Robert Kent aiding her in supplying the romance.

The supporting picture on the program stars George O'Brien in the outdoor drama, "Park Avenue Logger." O'Brien portrays the role of a scion of the wealthy, but nevertheless a he-man. He even dons a mask and becomes the world's champion wrestler. Never suspecting the athletic prowess of his son, O'Brien's father sends him to one of his vast lumber camps to "make a man of him."

RECOVERY AIDS HOLC AGENCY

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The general upswing in business is making easier the job of Uncle Sam's giant mortgage collection agency—the Home Owners Loan Corporation, created during the depression to help finance 1,000,000 American homes.

The HOLC loaned slightly more than $3,000,000,000 at 5 per cent interest to about 1,000,000 persons. Charles A. Jones, general manager, said today improved economic conditions made it appear a large percentage of those borrowers who at one time seemed hopelessly in arrears would be able to clear up their past-due obligations.

He announced these round figures on the standing of the 1,000,000 borrowers:

More than 452,000 are currently paying their bills and in good standing as to both principal and interest.

More than 95,000 additional borrowers are less than three months in arrears.

Of those remaining, more than 200,000 not only are meeting monthly bills, but also are reducing their arrearages.

Asks More Funds For Frost Service

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Representative H. Jerry Voorhis, San Dimas, Calif., asked a house appropriations subcommittee Wednesday to increase the amount of funds available for maintenance of a fruit frost reporting service at Pomona, Calif.

Voorhis said an additional $5,000 beyond a $24,950 budget estimate is necessary to make the service "adequate."

Lucille Lambert and June Tway were initiated at the meeting of the Nos Amici club held at the home of June Tway, March 2.

The constitution of the club was discussed and new rules were made. Lucille Lambert will be stogie to Marjorie Mize, Carol Brinkerhoff and Fern Hendrix. June Tway will act as stogie to Barbara Flower, Rosemary Blodgett, Jean Conliffe and Dorothy Frazer.

Recognition was the main topic of discussion at the ninth grade Girl Reserve meeting held Feb. 24, in room 206, with Helen Tibbals presiding.

Marion Kenyon and Lucille Crawford were appointed members of the decoration committee, while Carol Brinkerhoff and Fern Hendricks will have charge of refreshments. Jean Conliffe asked for a vote on some popular song. The meeting was then closed by singing "Follow the Glean."

Different hobbies of Willard students are being displayed in showcase No. 5, under the supervision of Mr. Froeschle, including Edwins Paulson's airplane, truck and boat models, along with Tom Mathewson's and Bill Gilton's locomotive models.

Marion Lockett, painted the background, one of which is an airport and the other one being that of planes flying information. Other plane models will be displayed by Bill Fletcher next week.

The High 8-C and D general science class accompanied by Mr. Hicks, instructor, took an all day trip to the Griffith park, Thursday, March 2, to visit the planetarium and study the solar system. Robert Brigante was in charge of the transportation.

The class has also planned to go the Caltech college to see the grinding and polishing of the 200 inch telescope.

Fifteen girls from the high nine foods classes, directed by Miss Fitz, have completed the unit on serving a three-course dinner. The following girls are recommended as waitresses: Lucille Andrew, Lillian Breaux, Hortencia Flores, Mary Catherine Friend, Mamie Iley, Irene Inman, Audrey Johnson, Phyllis Kinney, Mary Alice Laughlin, Jean Pennington, Genevieve Reed, Josephine Reuter, Betty Smeykal, Patricia Swarthout.

The H-8 G general science class is now studying chemistry. For three weeks they have been studying astronomy, and have found it interesting but of course they have welcomed a change in study. They are studying from the book, "A Tour Through the World of Science," by Skilling. Later the class expects to do some experimenting with chemicals, as the room in which they study is equipped with the necessary devices.

Here Is The News You've Been Looking For!

The JOURNAL'S Next Big

COOKING SCHOOL

Will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, March 17-18-19 at the

Fox West Coast Theater

Hours 9:30 to 11:30

Conducted by

Margaret S. Lackland

The JOURNAL is happy to sponsor another interesting Cooking School under the direction of Margaret S. Lackland. Those of you who attended the last school conducted by the famed economist will remember it as one of the most glamorous events ever held here.

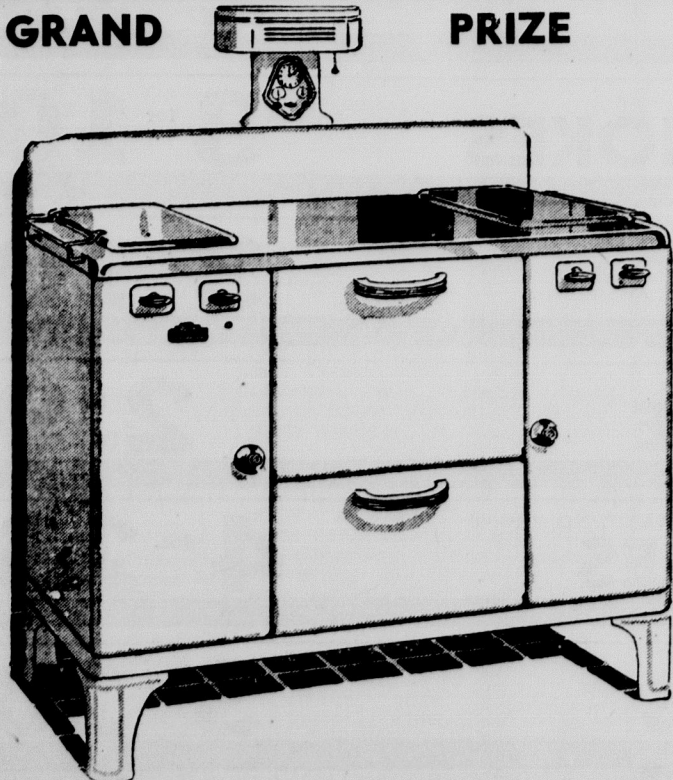

The school this year will also contain many delightful surprises and a most attractive list of worthwhile gifts, a number of which are listed below.

Remember, it starts Wednesday morning, March 17th at 9:30 a. m. at the Fox West Coast Theater where there are plenty of comfortable seats. Morning hours were selected for your convenience. Doors open at 8:30.

EXPERTS SAY QUAKES ON INCREASE

Activity Not Cause for Anxiety in Opinion
Of Official

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Rumblings and shocks from the crust of Mother Earth, the government's principal earthquake expert said today, are increasing in number.

Capt. N. H. Heck of the coast and geodetic survey declared a brief survey of earthquake records for the United States showed that 1936 was a quiet year. An awakening has been noted in recent weeks.

A minor California quake, two in the Mid-West, and records of activity in the Appalachian mountains, New England and other areas point to a renewal of activity in the sub-surface rock which is part of the earth's crust. None did any serious damage.

This activity is no cause for anxiety, Captain Heck explained, and may be only a compensation for a period of quiet. Most earthquake activity in the United States occurs in sparsely settled areas, he said, and most shocks are recorded only on sensitive instruments.

Scientists have not yet found any method of predicting quakes, added Captain Heck, president of the American Geophysical Union. "Scientists and engineers are finding and applying methods of making them less terrifying, however," he said.

"It is possible by the application of existing knowledge to build skyscrapers, homes, towers and factories which will withstand earthquake shocks."

In many cases quakes, which are changes and adjustments of rock, are similar to the heaving and buckling of huge ice blocks in a river. Only when a large change takes place suddenly in the ice or rock is it apparent to human senses.

CITRUS WEATHER FAVORABLE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Generally favorable weather for citrus growing in California, Florida, Texas and Arizona during February was reported by the Federal Crop Reporting board as it revised production estimates.

The orange estimate was increased 1,311,000 boxes over last year's production, for a total of 49,303,000 boxes.

For grapefruit the new estimate was 26,843,000 boxes, an increase of 266,000.

The lemon estimate, however, was lower: 5,724,000 boxes as compared with 7,787,000 last year.

Urges Unicameral

Representative Tracy Coker, 33-year-old Lincoln county Republican and professor at Gooding college, tells the Idaho house of representatives the state senate should be abolished and a one-house legislature established in the state. He introduced a bill for a unicameral body. (Associated Press Photo)

JURY CONVICTS KIDNAPERS

NEW YORK, (AP)—Harry Weiss and Martin Schlossman were convicted late yesterday of the kidnapping of Paul H. Wendel, former Trenton, N. J., lawyer. The jury selected a month after another jury had disagreed on the men's guilt, deliberated 52 minutes in King's county court, Brooklyn.

Navy Discusses New Dirigibles

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The navy still is trying to decide what to do about constructing new airships to replace the Akron and Macon. Both plunged into the sea.

Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, told a house naval appropriations sub-committee the navy's general board is studying the department's policy.

"No action toward the construction of such vessels is contemplated at this time," he said.

Bears Claw Down Telephone Poles

SANTA BARBARA, (AP)—Federal foresters are wrapping telephone poles in the Los Padres National forest with barbed wires, after finding bears clawed and gnawed 17 poles down.

U. S. DEFENSE DEPENDS ON WORKMAN

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Men in overalls have their places in the government's national defense program.

Military experts say it is even more true now than during the World war that a major conflict would mean effective organization of all the country's resources, civil as well as military.

Recently service agencies undertook a preparedness survey to determine what industrial concerns could be depended upon for needed supplies in event of hostilities.

12,000 Sign Facts

They have canvassed 20,000 firms, and 12,000 have signed agreements, military leaders said, to furnish supplies when the need arises.

The army and navy munitions board, explaining the necessity for co-ordinated development and distribution of resources in war time, summed up the close relationship of military and civilian forces with this assertion:

"War is no longer simply a battle between armed forces in the field—it is a struggle in which each side strives to bring to bear against the enemy the co-ordinated power of every individual and every material resource at its command."

"The conflict extends from the soldier in the most forward line to the humblest citizen in the remotest hamlet."

Plan Resources Board

During the World war a war industries board was the co-ordinating agency. Present defense plans call for a war resources administration should a new conflict develop.

Numerous proposals have been advanced, however, for running industrial and military forces in even closer harness. Service suggestions include plans to:

Fix prices of commodities, regulate their production and distribution and freeze real estate values and rentals.

Draft industrial management personnel into government service and commander plants under certain conditions.

Rest of Program

Regulate or close commodity and security exchanges.

Curb profiteering, hoarding and waste.

Set up a $500,000,000 revolving fund for even broader programs to conscript capital as well as men may be proposed to congress by the American Legion and other patriotic organizations.

The army-navy board also has made intensive studies of raw materials and has listed 23 "vital" and 52 "critical" substances for which production and control measures may be necessary because they are obtained in whole or in part from other countries. Storing of some of these commodities in peace time may be sought.

PREPARE TINY ISLAND FOR AMELIA

U. S. Builds Airport On Howland Isle for World Flight

HONOLULU, (AP) — Twisting breakers, which made a heavy raft and its 7500-pound load dance like a cork, thrust a dangerous job before U. S. government workmen now grooming tiny Howland island for Amelia Earhart Putnam's proposed world flight this month.

The problem of preparing the mile-long runway she will use was minute compared to the hazards of landing equipment on the lonely equatorial island, said Richard B.
Black, department of interior field representative who headed an expedition to the islet in January.

Returning to Island

Black is returning to the island aboard the coast guard cutter Taney to direct final preparation of the landing field. Mrs. Putnam will use Howland, 1560 miles south of here, as a base point between Hawaii and Lae, New Guinea.

The Taney, which will stand by at Howland for the flier's arrival, will transport Lieut. Arnold E.
True, aerologist, and two navy mechanists to assist her.

Because Howland's encircling coral reef has no channel, heavy tractors and graders were landed on pontoon rafts, riding the crest of breakers to shore, Black said.

Land Tractor Safely

The coast guard cutter Duane, which arrived with the expedition off Howland Jan. 22. Hovered in Lae waters, until it was anchored, while workmen undertook the delicate task of ferrying the heavy equipment ashore.

The islet's reef can be passed only during high tide, hence the necessity for combatting six-foot swells to beach the material.

While the Duane pitched in open water, workmen lowered a 750-pound tractor to pontoon raft.
Steadied by lines from shore and a power boat seaward, it rode to the beach on foaming breakers.
The raft's pontoons were smashed,
but the tractor was landed safely.

Plan Second Airport

A surfboat was stove against the reef, overturning and momentarily imprisoning two men, but all were saved.

The airport, being constructed by WPA workers under Robert M.
Campbell, divisional inspector of airports, will be America's first landing field in the South Pacific.
It will be followed eventually by a similar field on Jarvis island, 1000 miles southeast of Howland.

Bride, 15, Taken From Mate, Sent Back to School

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—
Margaret Peres Plass Wilbur, 15-year-old bride of a month, was separated by court order from her young husband this week and ordered to return to school.

Children's Court Judge J. Gordon Flannery, who previously had held the girl was a juvenile delinquent, suspended sentence and placed her on probation for two years.

A condition of the suspension was that she and Webster Wilbur, 21, to whom she was married in a double elopement last month, must not live together as man and wife "at least until she is 16."

German Envoy
Substitutes Hand
Shake for Salute

LONDON, (AP) — Joachim von Ribbentrop, German envoy to London, amazed his fellow ambassadors yesterday by shaking hands with King George VI.

The other diplomats at a Buckingham Palace tea party had expected von Ribbentrop to do like he has done on his two previous appearances at Buckingham Palace—give the Nazi salute.

Instead, he and Frau von Ribbentrop emulated the other ambassadors, stood in line, shook hands with both the king and queen, and stayed for the tea.

Nitroglycerin
Blows Up Truck
And Its Driver

PLEASANTVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Sixty quarts of nitroglycerin exploded on the outskirts of this town yesterday, demolished the truck which was carrying it, and killed the driver.

Residents who had seen the truck pass through Pleasantville a few minutes before the explosion, said the driver was August Bond, 52, an oil well "shooter."

Cardenas Wants To Run Again

MONTEREY, Mexico. (AP) — A movement to have the Mexican constitution changed so President Cardenas might run for re-election at the end of his six-year term in 1940 has been launched.

FINDS TOWN MOVED

NELSON, Wis. (AP) — Adam Eberwein returned here after a 48-year absence, and was astonished to find the town had moved. When he left, the community was grouped around the railroad station. On returning, he found it a mile north, where the Wabash ferry docks.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

WARBLING WILLIAM GAL-LIENNE, the Maestro of the Marshes, scored another ringer yesterday. The Huntington Beach booster, with true secretarial fervor, turned out a folder which does his community all sorts of credit.

I admit that I know nothing about (ahem) advertising folders.
But the product produced by Warbling William appealed to my eye. It combined great reader appeal (including bathing girls) with a pleasing color scheme and well arranged group of pictures.

The main reason for Bill's new folder is the new trailer camp which should start May 28 and run through June 6. Pictures of Janet Gaylor and Frederic March—said to be movie people—giving a trailer an outing at Huntington Beach feature the attractive new advertising medium. A nice shot of the municipal pier and another of the city's water camp give the reader a very good idea of what's to be expected by trailer tourists.

Bill, it seems to me, became almost too enthusiastic in describing his community when he told of tuna and flying fish capering for the benefit of anxious anglers, but I can't blame him. He sure has something to write about!

All in all, it's one of the best efforts I've seen in the folder field.
Attractive coastline map on the back, done in blue, white and green. A bathing babe, swaying palm trees and, of course, a trailer, on the cover. If people don't come to Huntington this summer, it won't be Bill's fault.

Incidentally, while calling on Bill yesterday, I ran across one of the best glarers in Orange county.

A glarer, in case you didn't know, is a person who slinks. He slinks behind things, like posters or potted palms, and then glares at his victim.

He's a fine fellow named Africa,
an inhabitant of Huntington.
Several times lately I've told of John's weakness for wearing lurid socks. He, it seems, doesn't appreciate such publicity.

I walked in yesterday, and there was John, socks and all, told him "showy". It might have been "hello" and again it might have been a very, very nasty swear word. I'm hoping for the best!

Ernie Garner, a policeman who's right-hand man for John Gregory, desk sergeant at Fullerton, buzzed me on the phone yesterday. I thought the law'd finally caught up, but he just had a story. "Twas a good'ee too. You'll see it somewhere else on this page."

It seems that the Izaak Wal-toners in Fullerton are to give their second annual outdoor show next month. Ernie was very much excited about it, and I don't blame him. Read the story and get an idea about what's going to happen. It'll be more than worth while attending, so put April 24 and 25 down in your date book right now!

Here people, is Reporter and Radio Announcer Frank (The Journal's on the Air) Orr. Frank wanted to take a whack at our city editor, and I finally consented to allow him use of a certain amount of space in this department. Here's Orr:

This is a phooey for City Editor Roch Bradshaw. Not by me, on account of I work for him.
And not because of anything I did, although he frequently takes considerable abuse when I rate subscribers come in to discuss things I wrote. Like the Silver Acres story, for instance.

But that's not the point. And it's off the track, which I am told I often get.

This is about the time Herr Bradshaw wrote part of a column for Sports Editor Romeo Wright.
He got me in Dutch.

Roch's column was, as near as I can remember it, something about Les Slaback pushed a baby buggy up and down in front of the bleachers in Orange and then went out and hit a home run.
Which was a good little yarn 20 years or so ago, and is a good little yarn yet.

But Les has other ideas. He approached me with a twinkle in his eye and a worried expression on his face the other day when we both dropped into Judge Morrison's court at once.

"Say," he said, "What kind of paper are you guys running, anyway?" The usual way for things to start when somebody has done something he hadn't ought to. "In Paul Wright's column," he continued, "there was something about my pushing a baby buggy up and down in front of the bleachers and then going out and hitting a home run."

The worried expression grew wider. "Now," he concluded,
"I quit playing baseball a couple of years before my son and heir arrived. And my wife wants to know whose baby I was pushing around."

OUTDOOR SHOW SLATED BY FULLERTON WALTON CLUB

FOR ANNUAL FIESTA

John Gregory Reelected
Head of Sportsman's Organization

FULLERTON.—Plans for the second annual "Outdoor Show" sponsored by Fullerton chapter, Izaak Walton League of America, were made last night at the annual meeting of the group in the Walton cabin in Hillcrest park.

Election of officers also was a feature of the session, with John Gregory reelected president and Ernie Garner reelected secretary.
Other officers named were R. R.
Hughes, treasurer and Karl Parks, vice-president.

The outdoor show will be held April 24-25 in the park, and will feature displays of trailers, camping equipment, sporting goods, shooting contests, and many other interesting events.

In charge of various events at the show will be Bob White, muzical director; Roger Price, pic-tural artist; Henry Imm, plug and fly casting; Karl Parks, archery;
Mr. Burgess, game release; K. C.
Foster, salt water casting; Ray Yerian, trailers; Charles Clark, concessions; Ed Gaines, hounds and bobcat; George Muir, bird dog whistle; Ben McGowan, survey ground; Herman Boole and L. H.
Boling, musical entertainment; L.
A. Warner and Jiggs Morris, stunts; H. M. Sellers, forestry and Hollis Knowlton, Boy Scouts.

Members of the Walton chapter are sponsoring a turkey shoot March 21 at the Fullerton airport, with funds derived from this activity to be used to defray expenses of the outdoor show. Huge crowds attended last year's affair, and a much larger attendance is anticipated this season, officials said today.

Pupils Present
P-T. A. Program

ORANGE.—"Kings and Cabbagages" was the title of a play presented by several pupils of the sixth class of the Intermediate school Wednesday afternoon, when the P-T. A. met in the auditorium.

The teacher, Mrs. Blanche Brown, directed the production in which George Schmidt, Grace Doyle, Mary Lou Liming, Rufus
Kirby, Randolph Patton, Wilberta
Nave, Elmer Barnett, Richard Atchley, James Finley, Stanley
McGill and David Hart took part.

Charles L. Ruby, Fullerton Junior college teacher, spoke on "Shopping" to 30 members and friends present. Tea was served with Mrs. E. C. Frevert as chairman of the hostess committee.

Social Section Of Club Meets

GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. Zelma
Van der Linde, with the assistance of Miss Eleanor Wisner, entertained members of the social section of the Junior Woman's Civic club, Tuesday evening. Miss Dorothy Knapp received the high respected award of the evening's bridge games with a guest, Mrs.
Archie Kearns, receiving the consolation.

Mrs. Daisy King also was a guest, other members attending being Misses Ruby Aabel, Blanche Gunn, Juanita Dungan, Fairle Virgin, Mesdames Dorothy Gedney, Dorothy Lake and Helen Gedney.

Home Section of Center Meets

TUSTIN.—How to make scarfs and collars was demonstrated by Miss Frances Liles at a meeting of the home department of the Tus-tin Farm Center at the home of Mrs. A. M. Robinson, Tuesday.
The demonstration followed a pot-luck luncheon.

In a short business meeting,
Cecil Marks talked on Farm bureau membership plans. Mrs.
Frank Jones reported on the regional meeting at Orange. Mrs.
Wilson talked on a proposed farm bureau bill on medical care.
Twenty-one women attended the meeting.

Orange Writing Contest Slated

ORANGE.—To encourage literary effort, the "Reflector," Orange High school weekly paper, is sponsoring a contest, the prizes of which are three copies of the school annual, Orange and White.

Any high school student may enter, provided he or she is an amateur writer, and may submit a poem, short story or an essay.
George Stoner, English teacher, will head the committee of judges, to be made up of other English teachers of the school, assisted by journalism students.

Rev. Hoffman Is
Speaker at H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, pastor of the First Methodist church of Fullerton, was speaker at a church night dinner program of the local Methodist church last evening. His subject was "What Will Happen to Us if War Comes Again?" Dinner was served by women of the Dorcas society, headed by Mrs.

Japanese Admits Mass Slaying

Enechi Kato, 36-year-old Japanese farmer, surrendered to police at Richmond, Calif., and confessed the slaying of his wife and four children whose bodies were found in a crude grave on his farm near Auburn, Wash. Kato, shown here telling his story to Sergeant Allen Cundy of the Richmond police force, said he killed his family because they were destitute. (Associated Press photos.)

GARDEN GROVE LIONS END
ATTENDANCE CONTEST

GARDEN GROVE.—Postmaster
Clair Head's team of Lions club members were declared winners of a membership and attendance contest closing with the luncheon meeting Wednesday and thus won a treat from the group captained by the Rev. W. J. Keech.

Directors of the club met the same evening and decided the treat would take the form of a dinner at the Belmont Shore club in Long Beach during the week of March 21, the day to coincide with the wrestling matches at the Civic auditorium which the members will attend after dinner. W. A.

Wheeler, E. A. Wakeham and President Jack Crill, members of the losing team, will make arrangements for the dinner.

A "Ladies' Night" was planned for April 1, the event and place to be arranged by Vernon Bruederle, Donald Vance and George Tobias. Rev. Keech was program chairman for the luncheon and presented Norman Smith of the United Films and Union Oil companies, who showed talking and colored motion pictures of California Highway scenes.

LEADERS NAMED PORT FARMERS
BY P-T.A.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Elementary P-T. A. members elected officers for the coming year at a meeting this week, with Mrs. W. P.
Henry elected president; Mrs. A.
C. Achey, first vice-president; Miss Ethel Dwyer, second vice-president; Mrs. B. H. Harper, recording secretary; Mrs. Ernest Koppl, treasurer; Mrs. C. P. Lambert, historian and Mrs. Mae Benning-dorf, parliamentarian.

Miss Margaret Giacomazzi's kindergarten group and students of Miss Wood's room gave a demonstration of how music is taught in the school. Miss Rheta Akin explained how art is taught in the school, demonstrating her talk by a number of drawings. Miss Lea Hood, librarian, spoke on the type of books in which children are most interested. Following the program tea was served by two of the teachers, Miss Agnes Smith and Miss Isabella Siracusa, assisted by a group of the girls from the upper grades.

ARTISTS PLAN
MONTHLY FETE

LAGUNA BEACH.—Homer C.
Chaney spoke at the high school
Wednesday on the public forum program, giving his last lecture here before leaving for Waco, Texas, to continue similar work with the forum project there.

Chaney used as his topic, "An Equitable Reward for Labor," and an interesting discussion by the group attending followed his talk.

It was shown that so long as there was profit in industry there would always be opposition between labor and capital, with labor using its bargaining power to get better wages out of industry. The recent sit-down strikes also were discussed, bringing forth many differences of opinion. Charlie Dean, a member of the high school faculty, was chairman.

Clam Chowder
Dinner Planned
By Auxiliary

COSTA MESA.—At the regular meeting of the American Legion auxiliary recently in the home of Lola Anderson, plans were completed for a clam chowder dinner to be served March 19 from 6 to 7:30 p. m. in the Legion hall.

Following the dinner bridge will be played and prizes awarded. Admission will be charged and the general public is invited.

Supper Features
Rebekah Meeting

WESTMINSTER.—A "penny supper," in charge of Mrs. Linda McDaniel, Mrs. India McDaniel, Mrs. Floyd Michl, Mrs. Frankie
Van Uden, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall and Mrs. C. C. Murdy, opened the regular meeting of the Alohah Rebekah lodge Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Evelyn Wardlow, noble grand, conducted the meeting and welcomed a number of visitors from other lodges in the district.

ELKS HONOR
LADIES AT DINNER

ORANGE.—Orange Elks entertained their ladies last night with a turkey dinner and entertainment program at the American Legion hall with C. H. Robinson as master of ceremonies.

The exalted ruler, Otto Linnert, introduced officers of the lodge, who assisted in arrangements, including Grant Goddickson, leading knight; Burli Wing, loyal knight;
Bill Hirstein, lecturing knight;
Earl Hobbs, esquire; Kearney Adams, inner guard; Bill Barnes, teller; Al Grant, chaplain; Earl Smith, secretary; Charles Coffey, treasurer; trustees, Roy Perkins,
Bob Pearson and Paul Muench, Bert Campbell, district deputy grand exalted ruler, Santa Ana.
Mayor A. C. Boice and Chief of Police George H. Franzen also were introduced.

Music was played during the dinner by an orchestra composed of Ed Bula, Elsie and Freda Hink, Norma Perkins and John Stout.
Bula was program chairman.

A juggling act by a team, Mc-Connell and Moore, Los Angeles, gave the audience a thrill, especially C. H. Robinson, who assisted. This was followed by Eddie Emerson in "Tops and Taps," a dancing act. The Morella Brothers, violin, guitar and Italian comedy.

"The Three Little Pigs in Person," Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford and Farina, did tricks.
These pigs appeared in recent moving pictures. The Caprino Sisters, songs; Louis Arley and Oliver Sisters exhibited hand balancing and "Mrs. Pasquale," radio and movie artist, entertained.

FISH NEWS TO BE BOARDCAST

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—KVOR
as the radio station to broadcast flash fishing bulletins from Newport-Balboa and the adjoining coastline this summer was considered certain of approval by directors of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce at their noon meeting today at Wilson's Ballroom cafe.

The airline news service for sports fishermen was to be brought before the directors by the chamber's fishing committee, which discussed the innovation at a recent committee gathering.

Enthusiastic support of the scheme has come from all quarters, according to the committee.
Favorable action by the chamber's directors was believed assured.

Awards for the flower show to be held in May was another matter of business scheduled for the directors' meeting by Harry Welch, executive secretary.

Preparations for mailing of 150 packages of yachting photos, particularly of small craft such as snowbirds, to yachting clubs and associations all over the country, were being made at the chamber's offices.

Install Mission Society Heads

WESTMINSTER.—Mrs. J. H.
Walton was hostess Wednesday afternoon to members of the Woman's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church.

The Rev. T. Takayama, pastor of the Japanese Presbyterian church at Westminster, and Mrs.
Takayama were special guests, the Rev. Mr. Takayama speaking on some of the problems of his country and exhibiting maps and photographs to illustrate his talk.

Mrs. George Greer was in charge of the devotional service and installation of officers.
Mrs. Reuben Edwards was seated as president; Mrs. Frank Grandy, vice-president; Mrs. Clifford Rhea, secretary and Mrs. M.
J. P. Heil, treasurer. Others who were present were Mrs. Edna Marley, Mrs. Harry Penhall, Mrs.
Chester Henestreet, Mrs. Horace
Reed, Mrs. Ruth Penhall, Mrs.
Charles Walton, Mrs. Virginia Patterson and Mrs. J. A. Murdy.

Legionnaires
Hear Oration

GARDEN GROVE.—Tom Sullivan, who with George Goda represented the Garden Grove High school in the county finals of the American Legion's annual oratorical contest at Santa Ana this week, repeated his oration before members of the Garden Grove American Legion Wednesday evening. Sullivan was awarded second place in the county contest.

Several members of the Huntington Beach post, headed by Commander F. Norriss, were guests at the meeting, which was followed by a social hour.

Answer Newport
Disaster Call

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Legionnaires, Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts and first-aid staffs stood by for disaster emergency service in the Newport Harbor district last night when exploding bombs announced the drill, a feature of the county American Legion posts' safety campaign.

All those responding registered at the fire halls at Newport, Balboa and Balboa Island.

GROWING PAINS

"Oh, I guess they won't miss me—since that new baby brother of mine came they don't know I'm alive."

POULTRY GROUP RADIO PAIR TO
TO HEAR TALK GIVE PROGRAM

COSTA MESA.—Dr. J. W. Harmon of the Taylor Milling company, will speak before the adult poultry class next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Harmon, who is head of the educational service department, has had many years' work with poultry problems and has been employed in poultry husbandry for both private and government institutions.

Re-Elect Hansen
P-T. A. Leader

HANSEN.—Mrs. Fern Vipond was re-elected president of the Savanna P-T. A. at the annual election of officers Tuesday afternoon, and Mrs. Sam Parry, vice-president, was named to serve a second term.

Mrs. Roberta Parra was elected secretary and Mrs. Lottie Heishusen, treasurer. The association voted to send the president, Mrs.
Vipond, to the state convention at Pasadena in May.

An art exhibit in charge of Mrs.
Hazel Gillison featured the afternoon program which concluded with a social hour and refreshments served by Mrs. Lottie Heishusen, Mrs. Jennings, Mrs. Genevieve Kahl and Mrs. John Maloney.

RETURN FROM TRIP
BARBER CITY.—Mr. and Mrs.

Richard Ladden returned Tuesday from Oklahoma, where they had been called by the serious illness of Mr. Ladden's father, who is still in a precarious condition as the result of a motor accident.

LEAVE FOR HOME
BARBER CITY.—Mr. and Mrs.

J. K. Shotwell, who have been visiting guests of the son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Prindle, left Wednesday night for their home in Fort Townsend, Wash.

THE PURPLE ARROW

By MILDRED SNOW GLEASON

(Copyright, 1937, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Frances Haven, American girl, has been living on an isolated little farm in Denmark with an elderly couple named Jilupp. They are trying to force her to marry their son, Joe, and keep her virtually a prisoner. With the aid of an unknown person who sends her a note signed only with a crayon drawing of a purple arrow, she escapes to the country near Bucharest. Ward Petersen, an agent of the Purple Arrow, turns up to watch over her. Also at the pension are a Professor Richardson and a young student, Polespu.
Then Joe Jilupp arrives. He again threatens her. One evening Ward is knocked unconscious while walking in the woods. Suspicion falls on Polespu, but when Ward and Fran question him, he tells them the professor was the assailant and offers proof. Later the evening Ward and Fran see the professor coming out of Joe's room.

CHAPTER XXIX
In spite of Polespu's story, it was hard for Fran to believe that the quiet, genial professor could have assaulted Ward, but after she had seen him come out of Joe Jilupp's room, there was no longer any doubt in her mind.

She spent a sleepless night. She forgot the fears for herself in her growing fear for Ward. By dawn, she had come to the conclusion that she must make him leave this place. She finally fell into a deep slumber and did not wake until late in the morning.

After breakfast in bed, she dressed and went downstairs, looking very pale and with deep circles under her eyes.
Ward was alarmed when he saw her.

"Darling, you're not well!" he said. "I couldn't sleep, that's all."
Ward tucked her arm through his and led her out into the garden, where he installed her in a deck chair.

"We've got to do something about this," he said. "I can't have you getting ill."
"There is only one cure for what ails me. I'm worried about you, Ward—you've got to go away!"
"And desert you?" Ward laughed.

"Very well, then—I'm leaving if it's your job to protect me, you'll have to come along."
"The Purple Arrow," Ward began.

"The Purple Arrow," Fran interrupted impatiently, "is nothing but a shadow who has abandoned us to a dangerous fate."

"A shadow with a telegraphic address," said Ward. "I've sent him word of the situation."

"I can't help that—I'm not going to stay here any longer. I came here for a rest, and it's turned into a horrible nightmare." Fran's voice quivered. "I can't stand it any longer. I'm leaving today, and you're coming with me."

Ward was silent, smoking nervously.
Fran started to get up. "I'll go and tell Frau Braun that I'm leaving."

Ward pushed her gently back into the chair.
"Very well," he said slowly. "I'll come with you, but there's no hurry. The next train doesn't leave until 5 this afternoon. Hello, here comes Frau Braun now."

The big woman was coming across the garden toward them.
She smiled and greeted them pleasantly.
"I have some good news for you, Miss Haven. If you are still looking for a job, I have one for you." Fran's face brightened. "That is good news—and very providential.
What sort of a job is it?"
Frau Braun frowned. "I don't know," she said slowly. "I wasn't told what your duties would be."
Fran looked puzzled. "You must know something about it," she said.

The woman smiled. "I'll tell you how it is. A friend of mine phoned me this morning and said he understood that I had an American girl here who was looking for a job. You see, I had spoken to a few people. He asked for a little information about you, and then said he could place you."
"Who is this friend of yours, Frau Braun?"
"He asked me not to say."
"Oh," Fran was uncomfortable.
"I can't understand why he should want to keep his identity and the nature of the job a secret. I—I'm afraid that, under the circumstances, I can't accept the position."

"Don't be too hasty in refusing

OFFICE TO BE OPENED

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Representatives of all branches of the maritime world are expected to attend the formal opening of the new offices and watchtower of Harbormaster T. E. Bouchey, set for Saturday.

Previewing the almost finished building yesterday was C. E.
Vesey, skipper of the "Tamalmar," and of the 45-footers association, and regional Sea Scout commissioner.

Accompanied by Harrison White, county Boy Scout executive, Commodore Vesey visited with Harbormaster Bouchey on Sea Scout as well as yachting matters.

In the yachting world he promised the largest fleet of 45-footers yet gathered for a single regatta date will stream into Newport Bay on Harbor Day, May 15.

Turning to Sea Scout affairs he accepted an invitation to the next meeting of the newly organized Orange County Sea Scout Shippers club to be held April 7, and endorsed the movement to make Newport Bay a Sea Scout base.

Son of Lagunans Goes Abroad
On Youth Survey

LAGUNA BEACH.—Spencer
Miller, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs.
Spencer Miller, has been sent abroad for a three months' survey by the Youth Movement Council.
Investigating achievements along the lines followed by the American organization, Miller expects to spend most of his time in France and England.

Miller served as secretary of the Workers' Educational Bureau, and has won considerable recognition for his work, being appointed for the mission due to his exceptional qualifications.

Easter Dinner
Held at Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The
annual Easter dinner and pageant presented by members of the First Christian church was held last night at Memorial hall, with 300 guests attending.

The tables and hall were decorated in acacia blooms and spring florals by Mrs. Grace Dalany and her committee. Mrs. Muri Kesterson was chairman in charge of preparing the turkey dinner.

Following the dinner a Biblical drama "He Liveth," an Easter story portraying the crucifixion and resurrection was presented by members of the church, directed by Mrs. Mayne Schuth.

FARM PRICES ARE TAKING UPSWING

Uninterrupted Rise Is Observed in Survey Since June

NEW YORK. (AP)—American farmers and other producers of basic staples envisioned a golden harvest of billions of dollars today as pre-depression prices staged a comeback, under the impetus of a world wide upswing. The lean years from 1929 to the spring of 1933 when prices skidded to new historical lows faded in memory as the almost uninterrupted rise since last June restores to the boards of commodity markets quotations unseen in eight years. Metals, rubber, wheat and other big items of trade between town and country, measured in the American dollar, have recouped, in a four-year period, the disastrous losses of the depression. The story is sharply delineated in these prices—$1.40 a bushel for wheat—14-cent cotton, 16-cent copper—to mention a few.

Get-Out-Vote Club Renews War on Electoral Plan

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Simon Michelet, president of the National Get-Out-the-Vote club, renewed today his 10-year-old war on the nation's presidential electors. "The electors," he snapped, "are so many honorary dummies." Contending their names clutter up the ballots, the G. O. T. V. C. chief called for a constitutional amendment providing for direct election of the President.

Hits Symbols
Eleven states, he said, left the electors' names off the 1936 ballots. Nearly all carried the names of candidates for president and vice president. Next to the electors, the enemies of the Get-Out-the-Vote club are party symbols and big ballots. "Eighty years ago," said Michelet, "it was the custom to place party picture emblems on the ballots to guide voters who could not read." Michelet—who spends a great deal of time and effort keeping track of such things—found only 14 states in the last general election with ballot emblems.

How Alabama Does
Alabama, he said, led with a Democratic rooster, a Republican elephant, a Communist hammer and sickle, a Prohibition rose, Socialist clasped hands and Union triangle within circle. "In 1936," he explained, "more short and simple ballots were in evidence than ever before in 50 years. Over half were cut in size by 50 to 75 per cent compares with 10 years ago." The G. O. T. V. C. president said Rhode Island, the smallest state, had the biggest ballot—48 inches wide and 40 inches long. It covered all eleven officers, national, state, county and township.

CALIFORNIAN INJURED IN SPAIN WAR

VALENCIA. (AP)—Robert Meriman, Californian and commander of the "Abraham Lincoln" brigade in the government's international forces, was sent to a hospital with critical wounds today. The former economics instructor at the University of California at Berkeley was removed to a hospital at Murcia, on the Mediterranean coast, with a bullet in his shoulder and his left arm fractured by a shell splinter. The base hospital attended many casualties among members of the "Abraham Lincoln" battalion, composed of Americans who arrived in Spain after the new year, and who served in the thick of fighting on the Jarama front, southeast of Madrid, last month. Authorities at the United States embassy said they had no exact figures of the heavy losses reported to have been suffered by the battalion. Pajamas, Mohammedan in origin, were worn in India centuries ago.

BEST POLICE PAIR TRACK SLAYER

By EDWARD J. NEIL
NEW YORK. (AP)—Two "thief hunter" pair of policemen in New York are on the trail of the slayer of Norman Redwood today, and "the force" will bet you this week's pay, and next, that they crack the labor-leader slaying in New Jersey as neatly as they helped catch Bruno Richard Hauptmann. One is Detective Lieutenant James J. (Jim) Finn, sandy-haired and wiry, looking like anything but a former head of New York's strong arm squad. The other is big, burly Deputy Inspector Richard E. (Dick) Oliver, a gang buster with 32 years of experience. They teamed together when Lindbergh ransom money first bobbed up in New York after the kidnapping of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's baby son. Working with department of justice men for two and a half years, they scoured the city, Finn the tireless strategist; Oliver, the bulldog. They set the trap Finn, Oliver and the U. S. agents narrowed the field until they knew the money was coming from somewhere in the Bronx. Then they set the nets, and dragged in the German carpenter, who was executed less than a year ago for the kidnapping and killing of the child. For that, Lieutenant Finn was promoted, and his salary increased $460 a year. Oliver also stepped higher on the scale, and took over the station at Wadsworth avenue and 182nd street in Washington Heights. Now New York has assigned them together again, to help New Jersey police find the man or men who shot down Redwood outside his home in Teaneck N. J., last Friday night. They say in the department these two know every thief in New York, hating them all impartially. Both are affable, pleasant until a crook gets within reach. It's the department's nearest combination of finesse and strength.

Oliver's Record
While Finn has traveled in perhaps loftier police circles—as head of the Lindbergh inquiry, Chief Investigator for District Attorney William C. Dodge, boss of the strong arm wall-poppers—Oliver's credit has gone the cracking of more than a hundred gangs in his better than three decades of police and detective work. He "broke" the strange killing of Vivian Gordon, helped run down the Richard Reese Whittemore gang of murderers and jewel thieves, the Scarnici bank robbers, and aided in the O'Connell kidnapping case, among a few. Oliver's greatest regret is that he gave in to Lindbergh's pleas the night the flier kept his ransom date with the kidnaper of his baby. Oliver pleaded to be allowed to trail Lindbergh's car, to nail in the cemetery the man who got the kidnap money no one knew then what the world found out to his horror later—that the boy already was dead.

Says Our Tourists Gullible In Purchasing Antiques

CHICAGO. (AP)—American tourists are a gullible lot when it comes to buying antiques abroad, H. W. Gilmore, retired U. S. customs appraiser, said today. The noted authority on antiques and gems grinned as he recalled his 24 years of checking the intrinsic value of items culled from foreign marts. "Why, Americans, even the wealthy ones, hard-boiled in their own business fields, are the proverbial easy marks when they set out for antiques abroad," he observed laconically. "They get gypped about 50 per cent of the time." American dealers, Gilmore disclosed, are shrewder, but nevertheless they get fooled in about 20 per cent of their transactions. In order to be classified as an antique and quality as a duty exempt importation, an object now has to be at least 107 years old under a congressional statute in 1930.

ACCEPT HUGHES SPEED MARK

PARIS. (AP)—The International Aeronautical Federation today accepted as official the distance speed record set by Howard Hughes, American millionaire motion picture producer, on his solo flight from Los Angeles to New York January 19. Hughes' average speed was recorded at 526.500 kilometers per hour (327.148 per hour) and his time for the flight as seven hours, 25 minutes and 25 seconds.

Tooth-Straightening Cure For Inferiority Complex

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Certain types of inferiority complexes will yield to efforts of the orthodontist, and nobody else, Dr. Will C. Sheffer of San Jose, declared in an address here before the conference of the Pacific Coast Society of Orthodontists. Orthodontists, in the words of the society president, Dr. John E. Taylor, "are specialists in the work of facial reconstruction through dental work." "It's amazing how a buck-toothed child, or one suffering from harelip is changed from a frightened, introspective kid into a sunny youngster when we eliminate his handicap," Dr. Sheffer said.

Come come, inspectors. No pranks, please, at such an important moment...while we're examining the Great Idol's Eye ruby.

Which one of you turned out the lights? Not me, too. Oh very well then. I shall turn them on.

Ha ha! Quite a lark, inspectors, but...oh I say, where's the ruby? By jove, men, don't push this joke too far. Which one has the... Not me, too. What! My ruby...gone? GONE?

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Good Old World After All

SANTA ANA has a right to feel proud as a prince over the instant and whole-hearted response of local relief and civic organizations to the wretched plight of those 81 half-starved children in local schools.

No sooner had word reached the proper agencies than help was instantly volunteered.

The PTWW division of the WPA, through Fred Jayne, offered to rush through a soup kitchen project.

County Welfare Director Jack Snow volunteered to contact all families involved and to give aid to those eligible under the law.

Head of the SRA here, Mrs. Katherine Handley, launched an immediate survey to see what her group could do.

The social service unit of the WPA, with Mrs. Josephine Hearle in command, is already working on the problem.

And Mrs. John J. Mills, president of the 15 P.-T. A. chapters in this city, stated her associates would assist in any way they could.

Such a helpful spirit, flowing freely from all these groups, and from everyone else acquainted with the pitiable condition of the hungry tots, makes this old world a good place to live in.

"I would be a fitting gesture on the part of all who appreciate this attitude to make some expression of it. Next time you see any of the executives listed here, step up, shake his hand and say, 'Thanks, you are doing a good job for those needy youngsters.'"

You can't claim income exemption for contributing to the support of government payrolls who are excused from paying income tax. Instead, you pay extra for them.

You Just Think So

HERE is a fact about the sales and gasoline taxes that is hard to believe. The money you pay out for these levies is not deductible from federal income tax returns. Reason: These taxes, so the courteous man who helps you with your return explains, are NOT a tax on you!

You pay the extra 3 per cent when you buy retail goods and the extra 25 per cent when you buy gasoline. But it's an illusion. It isn't a tax on you.

The sales tax is a tax on the retailer and the gasoline tax is one on the manufacturer. They can deduct it and get credit for the money which you actually pay!

Perhaps you shell out hundreds of dollars a year in these two taxes to support the schools and highways. For these donations, however, you don't get a cent of credit. Instead, you actually pay federal income taxes on these taxes.

No wonder certain big sales and manufacturer interests are so fond of the sales tax. No wonder the consumer is beginning to realize that the sales tax sometimes is a double swat at his income.

That 76-year-old Midwestern federal judge who passed away was certainly cooperating with the court reform plan.

Twigs, Boys and Girls

"AS THE TWIG is bent, so grows the tree." No explanation is needed to understand that this old axiom applies to the raising of youngsters. And that the straight child grows up to be a straight man or woman, like the straight twig grows up to be a straight tree.

It's encouraging, therefore, to see the National Youth administration help young people grow straight through enlarging its program to include a toy lending library and repair shop that will give work to 40 youths. Such New Deal agencies are worthwhile.

They fit into government activities like the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. fit into character building groups sponsored by private initiative.

The boys and girls of today become the men and women of tomorrow. The world is in their hands. Those hands must be kept honest and capable.

Cast Your Smiles About

DID YOU ever meet someone on the street whom you didn't care a lot about? Did you feel tempted to pass that obnoxious person by with a cool nod? And then, not wishing to be snobbish, give him a warm greeting, something like this:

"Hello, Jones, old boy. How're the wife and kiddies?" And then see him warm up and come back with a cheery reply?

Greetings mean an awful lot in this world of ours. It doesn't pay to be a hypocrite, of course. You've really got to mean it when you smile.

A smile credits you with human kindness. Cast a few smiles about today—they'll reap a reward of genuine pleasure.

And So He Was Killed!

WHEN Governor Horner in Chicago the other day staked the life of a convicted murderer on his reaction to a lie-detector invented by a Northwestern University professor, imbecility and charlatanism reached its peak.

Joseph Rappaport was electrocuted a few hours after he had been told that his life depended upon the reflex action of his blood-pressure as he answered the question of his guilt or innocence.

Of course his blood pressure jumped at the moment that meant life or death! So would that of even an innocent man.

To inflict such a test is to mock justice and to aggravate the horror of capital punishment.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Thoughts while strolling: I saw it with my own eyes—a taxi driver with change. Those Gary Cooper

looking cops in the mid-town area who are Valentine's "Show window" squad. Every one a potential Phil Regan. No body can seem in such a hell-for-leather rush as Jules Gleanzer.

Rhyme. Funniest when trilling is Beatrice Lilly. Staten Island town with a hiccup name: New Dorp. What ever became of Jesse Livermore? Billy Moore, the fellow who used to sing, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," on amateur nights now grown up.

Top in cold pans: Sam H. Harris. The sporty blades are wearing white vests with dinner jackets. Jay Brennan calls George Jessel The Black Patti. Edna Darling, who used to book for the Palace. In the golden days when Elsie Janis was the highest priced vaudeville star.

Look alike: John Perona and Billy Seeman. Limerick makers could have lots of fun with that name, Russel Crouse. Nostalgia: For another German comedian like Max Gordon's brother, Cliff. Jimmy Cannon is writing sport stuff—with a boom! Girls who take a last, long lingering drag at their cigarette before stepping into a taxi.

Those cocktail hour boys who fairly live on hors d'oeuvres. Not many can walk with the natural swagger of Lawrence Tibbett. Or appear more regal than his wife, Jane. Any mugg—even Capone—can look a swell in a white silk muffler.

Probably the most spectacular rise from a devastating flop in the theater was scored by Olga Petrova. She was brought to America by Jesse Lasky in that now historic all-time American bust that opened the Follies Bergere, now the Fulton. Due to a lengthy program, she did not appear until 2 a. m. and faced a scattered audience that greeted her with yawns and silence. She was utterly crushed and after a few weeks took the only engagement she could find on the small time.

Acout caught her act at the first performance in Providence, R. I., when she stopped the show cold. He offered her an engagement at the Fifth Avenue. She accepted with proviso she was not to be billed. Her surprise act went over with a bang and fortune followed with a windup on the silent screen at $10,000 a week. Eventually she married an Indianapolis doctor. She spends most of her time on the Riviera but they exchange visits annually and have been extremely happy.

When Sarah Bernhardt was on vaudeville tours in America she had a clause in her contract that forbade animal acts on any bills in which she appeared. She was a devout lover of animals but thought such trained acts were cruel. Incidentally the all time high salary for vaudeville turns was registered by Willie Bard, the English light comedian. Some thing around $5000 a week. Al Jolson was once offered $10,000 for a single week at the Palace.

The alluring Clare Boothe in writing a play with a cast entirely of women reveals them as poisonously hell-catty. One critic calls her characters "as full as a bunch of fieurs de mal as Baudelaire could conceive in his most diseased moments." Yet in capitalizing such weakness she has scored a box office hit that will garner a million with Hollywood rights to come. Miss Boothe, who is the bride of Time Editor Henry Luce, also had her little mew.

A familiar figure in a classy night club is a vulpine olderster and barbered to a gloss. He is known as Count and there is a flurry of captains and marked obeisance by the headwaiter at his entrance with some de-lovely sprouting with orchids. It's all a gag. The patron is a former pants presser but his act causes a buzz and amuses the night club owner who knows the phoneys and enjoys presenting his own prize bloom.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—If the President loses his supreme court fight, his defeat will result chiefly from the identical mistake which cost Woodrow Wilson his League of Nations battle—failure to consider the vanities of human nature.

If Wilson had given more consideration to the senate during the negotiation of the Versailles Treaty and immediately thereafter, the history of the League of Nations might have been different.

How similar was the position of Roosevelt, before he sent his supreme court message to congress, is indicated by a conversation he had with one of his closest friends several weeks before the message was delivered.

Roosevelt had explained in great detail his plan for increasing the court, told just how he was going to send his message to congress.

"But, Mr. President," suggested the friend, "don't you think that will come as rather a shock to some people? I don't believe the country is quite prepared for anything so sudden. Don't you think you ought to take at least some of the amendments—minor senators, such as George Norris and Hiram Johnson, into your confidence?"

"Oh, if they object, I'll send for them."

"But what about William Green and some of the farm leaders? Don't you think you'd better get a little advance support from men of that type?"

"Oh, if they kick," blantly replied the President, "I'll call them in, I'll talk to them."

GRAND-STAND

Undoubtedly one reason for Roosevelt's decision not to flatter certain senators by advance consultation was that there have been leaks from so many of his previous conversations; also because he has such a fine sense of the dramatic.

The President has almost a mania for springing surprises. He loves to put one over on the newspaper. It is a game with him, sometimes a very serious game, because he has been known to hold up an important move which already had been decided upon, simply because a newspaper broke the story first. On occasion he has upset his entire plan merely to contract a newspaper story he didn't like.

The President also has great confidence in his personal powers of persuasion. He has come to rely more and more on the method of calling in critical senators and persuading them. "I'll send for them," is one of his stock expressions. Usually it works.

But during the supreme court controversy, delegations of senators have been leaving the White

MRS. T. W. CLARK of Stanton, chairman of the home department of the Orange County Farm Bureau, who has announced that farm women of Orange county will compete again this year in the public speaking contest sponsored by the California Farm Bureau Federation.

It took a long time to convince Roosevelt that his policy of "I'll send for him," would not work this once. That is why he decided to appeal the case over the heads of the senators to the people.

NEGRO JUDGE

Senator Millard Tydings is on the hot spot with a large section of his Maryland constituents. In many states it wouldn't matter, but in Maryland where the negro vote is a powerful factor, Tydings' action in holding up the appointment of a colored judge to the Virgin island is the next thing to political suicide.

William H. Hastie, the negro concerned, is the first to be appointed to a federal judgeship, and the appointment is considered an important recognition for his race.

Since the Virgin Islands are 95 per cent negro, the appointment is not opposed by Southern senators. But Tydings, for some reason, has stepped forward as chairman of the insular affairs committee, to hold it up.

ROPER'S PRESTIGE

Daniel Calhoun Roper, secretary of commerce, appears to have one of the sweetest dispositions in the New Deal. He has mild blue eyes, a gentle voice and a smile which never vanishes.

But underneath he can be unforgiving and vindictive.

Last year he had a disagreement with Tom Woodward, then vice president of the shipping board, and one of the most forthright and able members ever to sit on that body. He and Roper, however, had a vigorous run-in over policy regarding the big shipping companies, and in the end Roper asked for his resignation.

Later, with the reorganization of the shipping board, taking it out from under the commerce department and making it the "maritime commission," President Roosevelt seriously considered appointing Woodward to this new body. In fact, the appointment was virtually made.

Roper heard about it and objected strenuously. He claimed the appointment of Woodward to such an important position following his resignation would be a blow to Roper's prestige.

So it looks as if Roperian prestige will be preserved, and a good man lost to the maritime commission.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The Wagner-Ellebogen housing bill was stymied last year because Representative Steagall of Alabama held it in his banking and currency committee. But this year the bill has been put on Roosevelt's "must" list, so suddenly it has become the Wagner-Steagall bill. Reason: To get the bill out of the banking committee, Steagall's name was attached although he had nothing to do with drafting it. Representative Henry Ellebogen, Pa., the real co-author, worried all the time about the measure. On the regular federal payroll are now a total of 1,108,000 persons.

Remarkable Remarks

The time has now come for congress not to delegate powers to the President, but to take them back.

—U. S. Rep. Hamilton Fish, New York.

Success stories haven't nearly the vogue they had in the un-lamented days prior to 1929. The Horatio Alger hero who rose from a humble boyhood to power and affluence doesn't get nearly the play in the magazine and the story books he once enjoyed.

But all the success stories are not yet written—not half.

I picked up a newspapermen's magazine the other day, and right out of Page 1 came the steady, gray-eyed gaze of Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press associations, greatest news-gathering agency in the world.

"I knew him when" . . . as the saying goes. The picture shows him considerably chubbier than the lean, grayhounded lad I worked with years ago, but being on the sunny side of that year with which the phrase says life begins has not altered one whit the resolute cut of the Baillie jaw.

Hugh was getting his start as an alert and enterprising newsman down in Los Angeles, Cal., about the time your friend X Reporter was learning how to write leads on news stories that wouldn't throw copy desk men into fits of hysterics.

Young Baillie was a friendly, likeable chap, but very much the lone wolf in his news gathering.

The Mailbag

THEY CAN'T BE WRONG

To the Editor: With something of a shock I heard Sen. Burton K. Wheeler in a national hookup over KVOE last night list the Scripps-Howard papers as leaders in the opposition to the proposed liberalizing of the supreme court. The Journal being a link in that chain, I hope it will give space to those of us who emphatically hold with Mr. Roosevelt on the issue. Particularly I hope that you will reprint from the Kansas City Star the enclosed clipping written by my own sister, who is a grand writer even if I do say so, and one with an unusually intimate knowledge of legislative history. She was a Journal subscriber while living here last summer, and so should be eligible for your columns.

My own unreserved feeling is that Mr. Roosevelt is the greatest American of all time. He is right in the court issue because the court issue was clearly defined before last November. The only thing indisputably right in a democracy is an overwhelming majority. Mr. Roosevelt is an overwhelming majority. He is America's future. Hampshire to California in 1937—25,000,000 votes worth. And 28,000,000 votes can't be wrong.

ALLAN V. ELSTON.

(Editor's note: The Journal is not a link in the Scripps-Howard chain. It is a John P. Scripps newspaper. Mr. Scripps lives in Santa Ana. The Kansas City Star clipping referred to will be printed as soon as space in this department permits.)

OTHERS HUNGRY, TOO

To the Editor: Your paper carried headlines "Report: Children Going Hungry" and "Starving Pupils Faint in S. A. Schools." So what?

A survey should be made to find out how many of these underfed children are children of WPA workers who are trying to exist on starvation wages of $52.80 a month.

The children in school are not the only ones who are going hungry. The WPA workers' lunch buckets will prove this.

On March 10 on the front page of your paper another headline appeared, "SRA will quit food service." That makes another nice thing for the workers to look forward to.

It is impossible for any family of three or more to live (or even exist) in Santa Ana on less than $15 a week, and until the head of the family is paid enough to keep a family, the children will still go to school hungry and men will still go to work hungry.

The old argument about low wages in Orange county on WPA work is "it's better than nothing."

—How much better?

If the money for relief was divided equally and "Mrs. John Doolittle" and "Georgie Neversweat" that hold down soft jobs were put on the same basis as the men who actually do the work the result would be that fewer children would faint in the schools.

I wish one of the high-paid pencil pushers from the WPA office would figure out how a family is supposed to live on $52.80 a month and keep all the family from going hungry.

March 22 the Elks will have a new called ruler V. L. Motry is coming in. Motry leaves a record for industrious, conscientious and efficient service, and Brown takes up where Motry leaves off to make a record, which the Elks feel confident will be a successful one. Motry's administration has been one of unusual vigor and activity, during which the membership has been largely increased, the social and fraternal spirit improved, and the financial standing healthier. He succeeded Don Jerome, one of the most successful exalted rulers the Santa Ana Elks has had, and presents a comparable record.

It is now proposed to prevent the sale of liquor to minors during Easter week, the assumption being that the law will be taken off immediately after the observance of the resurrection. It is illegal to sell liquor to minors any time. I fail to get the logic of this brief prohibition to minors, although it can be approved on the ground that temporary enforcement is better than no enforcement at all.

Hey, kids, circus comin' to town! Al Barnes' big tent show is to exhibit in Santa Ana March 22. That old stuff about carrying water for the elephants is out of date. And then it's hard work.

It seems almost incredible that there should be hungry children in Santa Ana, yet such is the report emanating from the public schools, for which school officials are not to blame. In the human race we will always have the improvident, the shiftless, the ne'er do wells, and those whose habits breed from those in need their daily bread. This disregard of a domestic obligation, or an economic condition, which fails to provide employment to those who are willing to work, imposes a hardship on little children who of necessity must depend upon others to sustain them. When food is so sparsely served that it fails to support the human body and pupils faint in their school rooms, the situation is so serious that it should challenge those who have plenty to help those who are weak. According to report school officials and teachers have in many cases opened their heart and purse to overcome one of this human distress, but they should not be expected to meet this problem which belongs to the community. Under the present existing laws the school board cannot spend money for food. If you read Kenny Adams' story in Wednesday evening's issue of The Journal about hungry children, you may decide to inquire what you can do to relieve this human distress, which inconspicuously appears in one of the richest counties in the United States.

There was a clan of news-gatherers in the southern California city in those days who would play pitch or seven-up in the press rooms and send an occasional unlucky player out to scout up a bit of news which all the payers would divide, share and share alike.

Baillie and a few others were not content with any such arrangement. They took their news where they found it, and many was the scooping that the slug-gards took to their hands. I have a notion that the pitch players all later became publicity writers for the movie studios.

Hugh's dad before him was a good newspaperman, but that didn't help or hinder him. Success in his hotly competitive field is distinctly a one-man job.

And they cut down the old box cluttered with the consent but with the tears of Joyce Kilmer. The tree which has stood through storm and sunshine for many years at the southwest corner of the postoffice lawn took the saw today and gave up the ghost. Tree surgeons had tried to save it by closing up the wounds with cement, but the tiny bugs can do a lot of damage to a large foe. But the bugs brought their home down on themselves and will have to look for new trees to conquer. The old box elder afforded a nice shady retreat for bugs, but the postoffice rulers prohibited the human race from resting under its shady boughs, so now it has gone to the bow-woods, and "there ain't goin' to be no shade."

Received a phone call yesterday from Charles Ott. I was out of commission so there was no contact. Tried the following day to tie into that boy over the wire and when he ought to be in he was out. So Ott is still trying to locate me. Ott from ought is like trying to find Mr. X.

Rigid traffic enforcement is bringing its reward in increased collections, and a better observance of speed regulations. Noticed this morning several business and professional men who did not care before seen to care now about these chalk pencil marks on the tire. There is also a more general respect for pedestrian signs. And business appears to move along as usual without that terrific speed which has indicated that getting places was a matter of life or death—and it was. That is why the fatality toll mounted in this country last year to 38,500.
